Bidinger Says Robbins, Speakman OK'd Law Violation

George Bidinger Saturday named Kenneth Robbins and Dewey Speakman as the city officials responsible for his loss of $190,000 under an exclusive garbage hauling contract made with the city.

Late in March Judge Ammer ordered Bidinger, represented by Harry Margulis, Ashville, and Harry L. Culbertson, Akron, to set forth specific acts of specific city officials on which he maintained the breach of contract.

In an amended petition Bidinger stated that Robbins, former city solicitor, and Speakman, former service director, "willfully and maliciously encouraged the independent hauler of garbage and refuse to violate the city garbage ordinance."

The ordinance, drawn up by

City Council, closed the Route 22 dump and authorized a garbage hauling contract. The contract gave exclusive rights within the city to a hauler who would charge specific rates. The contract was awarded to Bidinger.

Bidinger stated that Robbins caused The Circleville Herald to publish notice of the fact that the city would not enforce said ordinance or prosecute any person violating the ordinance.

THE AMENDED petition stated that Robbins and Speakman gave assistance and encouragement to the individual haulers, who were violating the ordinance, by announcing in the public press that haulers would be neither molested or prosecuted in their violation of the ordinance.

Bidinger concluded by saying that Robbins and Speakman were in flagrant disregard of their duties as public servants, of not enforcing the ordinance that was their duty to enforce and disregard of the contract between Bidinger and the City of Circleville.

Therefore, Bidinger stated, due to the breach of contract he is entitled to recover actual damages of $90,000 and $100,000 for punitive damages.

The city, represented by Robert H. Huffer and Emmitt Crist, must now file an answer or demur to the petition. It has been indicated by the city's attorneys that a demurrer will be filed.

Small Air Force Rocket Said OK for Moon Trip

Nod Is Sought On New Vehicle

Researchers Claim Building Cost Is Low

DENVER (AP) — The Air Force disclosed today it has designed a small and relatively cheap rocket capable of reaching the moon.

Dr. Morton Alperin, director of advanced studies for the Air Force Office of Scientific Research at Pasadena, Calif., said the new space vehicle was designed as a result of OSR Project Farside balloon-launched rocket firings in the Pacific last year.

Alperin reported that the Air Force seeks authority to build the new rocket to supplement space research conducted with larger, more elaborate and more costly lunar probes.

Alperin is co-chairman of a three-day astronautics symposium, jointly conducted by OSR and the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences, attended by 800 military and civilian space scientists.

The Air Force already has authority to harness its Thor 1,500-mile-range ballistic missile, to the upper stages of the Navy Vanguard satellite rocket in efforts to hit the moon or to send a satellite payload around the moon.

IN THE FIRST step toward that program and also as a rest of a secret nose cone, planned for ballistic missiles of the future, the Air Force launched a Thor-Vanguard two-stage rocket at Cape Canaveral, Fla., Wednesday.

Sources here said there was a mouse aboard the 80-foot rocket. They said this was the first use of animals in an attempted intercontinental-range missile flight.

The Thor-Vanguard nose cone was to have been recovered, and the condition of the mouse would indicate how much protection the cone had provided from atmospheric friction heat. However, radio telemetry equipment in the rocket failed, and the Air Force was unable to find the nose cone.

Meanwhile, at Cape Canaveral, indications are that another Navy Vanguard launching is planned for sometime this week.

Lights on the rocket tower blazed Sunday night as crewmen service the slender three-stage vehicle which may drive a fourth U. S. satellite into orbit.

The 72-foot Vanguard has been poised at its launching site for more than a week. Its payload consists of a 21½-pound sphere 20 inches in diameter—about the size of a basketball.

Husky Voice Singing Hurts Vocal Cords

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The husky, low-pitched, sexy voice now so much in demand in popular music is ruining a lot of vocal cords, says a Stanford University throat specialist.

Yelling and cheer leading also are playing their parts and should be abolished, he asserted.

The damage comes from repeatedly putting too much tension on the cords, Dr. Paul J. Moses of San Francisco told the California Medical Assn.

A woman singer with a normal soprano voice, for instance, puts added strain on the inner vocal cords when she drops into the lower register and does part of her singing by allowing air to escape from her throat to accent the huskiness, Dr. Moses said.

Singing, he asserted, is not a matter of breathing but aspiration of the cords by a part of the brain.

In natural singing the cords are closed and no air escapes, he said. But in the throaty renditions requiring the escape of air the cords have to open. This produces a strain which can cause the growth of nodes or small lumps of tissue on the cords, Dr. Moses said. These nodes can be removed surgically but there is no certainty that the cords can be restored to their original shape and effectiveness, the specialist asserted.

11 Injured in Auto Mishaps During Saturday Outbreak

Nine persons were injured, none seriously, in a rash of auto accidents Saturday afternoon.

Three were treated at Berger Hospital as the result of a head-on collision on Route 22 about 2 of a mile east of the Circleville city limits.

They were Doris Boutin, 41; Patricia Deering, 6, and Agnes Duffy, 47, all of Stanford, Conn. They were passengers in a car driven by E. J. Boutin, 49, of Stanford.

The sheriff's department reported that the injured persons were riding in a car which was struck head-on by an auto driven by Evelyn Googe, 49, Atlanta, Ga. Boutin stated that he swerved to the left to avoid a car which stopped in front and hit the Googe car head-on.

Doris Boutin suffered contusions of the right arm and leg. Patricia Deering was treated for contusions and shock and Agnes Duffy was treated for shock. Boutin was fined $10 and costs for driving left of the centerline.

THREE OTHERS were hurt at 2:15 p. m. Saturday in a read-end collision along Route 104, about 18 miles northwest of Circleville.

An auto driven by Lester N. Cone, 64, Worthington, smashed into the rear of a car driven by Charlotte Haydon, 48, Commercial Point, according to the sheriff's office. It was reported that the Haydon vehicle was pulled off the side of the road and Cone couldn't stop in time to avoid hitting it in the rear.

Cone was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, suffering from possible chest injuries and an ankle injury.

Mrs. Haydon and Linda Haydon, 10, were referred to a physician. Mrs. Haydon suffered a possible chest injury and Linda suffered from shock.

John Irvin, 39, of Ashville, suffered cut lips, a possible nose injury and a cut forehead when he swerved his car off the road to avoid a bicycle rider. The accident happened at 3:20 p.m. Saturday about four miles north of Ashville on the Circleville-Lockbourne Road. He was referred to a physician.

Two persons were injured slightly at 6:25 p.m. Saturday when two cars collided at Route 22 and Route 104, according to the sheriff's department.

William J. B. Paul, 46, Eaton, Ind., and Goldie Thomas, 41, Route 1, Lancaster, suffered sprained necks when the car in which they were riding was hit in the rear by a car driven by Everett Hoskins, 67, Route 1, New Holland.

Paul told Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey that his auto was headed west on Route 22 and stopped at the intersection of Route 104 to make a left turn. Hoskins told Felkey that he saw the car stop but couldn't stop his own auto in time to keep from hitting the Paul vehicle in the rear.

Bank Chiefs Eye Spending By Consumers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The heads of the nation's 12 federal reserve banks say "vigorous steps in the form of prompt-acting government measures would be indicated" if consumer spending is cut back substantially this spring.

Under such conditions, they said Sunday, "a substantial" but temporary reduction in broadly based taxes would be most effective and appropriate. They spoke of cuts in personal income and corporation taxes.

The reserve bank heads also said that in any government public works program the stress should be on projects "that have been started and can readily be accelerated, or on projects that are past the planning stage and can be put into motion rapidly."

The reserve bank presidents discussed anti-recession remedies in a joint reply to a questionnaire from Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. The questionnaire was prepared several months ago.

The reserve officials said that "quite moderate action" by the government might be enough if consumer spending generally holds up, if there is a normal seasonal pickup in such things as auto sales and residential building and if the contraction in business investment is not accelerated.

Insurance Firm Plans New $4 Million Home CINCINNATI (AP) — The Ohio National Life Insurance Co. will build a new $4 million home office building here, it was announced today by M. Roy Dodson, president.

The building will be about two miles north of the downtown district. Work is scheduled to be started this fall and to be completed by the summer of 1960.

Part of the limestone and polished granite building will be three stories high and part will be five stories. It will have approximately 1,460,000 square feet of floor space.

Ike Urges Khrush To Parley on Arctic Inspection

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower today urged Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to join with the United States and other Western Allies in an international disarmament inspection program for the Arctic area.

In a new note to the Kremlin leader, the President also appealed anew to the Soviet Union to have its technical experts work with the United States in an effort to determine which nuclear test ban controls are necessary to open the way toward general disarmament. Khrushchev had rejected that Eisenhower proposal last week.

In calling on the Soviet Union to join the Western allies in an Arctic area aerial inspection program, the President pointed out to Khrushchev that the United States already has announced its intention of bringing up the matter in the United Nations Security Council Tuesday. A resolution will be introduced in the Council by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, chief of the U.S. mission to the U.N.

"I am sure," Eisenhower wrote Khrushchev, "that with the growing capabilities in the Soviet Union and the United States of massive surprise attack, it is necessary to establish measures to allay fears."

THE PRESIDENT'S note added up to still another U.S. move to smash recent Soviet charges that this country is endangering peace by sending nuclear armed bomber planes across the Arctic area toward the Soviet frontier.

The Soviet Union brought that complaint before the U.N. Security Council last week. But Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev withdrew his resolution asking the Council to halt such U.S. flights after 9 of 10 members of the Council had spoken against it.

Andrei Gromyko, Soviet foreign minister, proposed Saturday that Poland and Czechoslovakia be included in talks on summit preparations, and Moscow radio reported Sunday that Khrushchev personally backed up Gromyko.

The inclusion of Poland and Czechoslovakia in these talks would be both democratic and just, Khrushchev said, but he added that the Western powers did not want to have open discussions on preparations for a summit meeting.

The President's message is in reply to Khrushchev's note of last week rejecting Eisenhower's proposal of April 8 that the United States and the Soviet Union put technical experts to studying what specific nuclear test ban controls "are necessary if there is to be a dependable and agreed disarmament program."

THE SOVIET has announced it is halting tests of atomic and hydrogen weapons and has called on the United States to do the same. Khrushchev says the Soviet Union is reserving the right to resume tests if this country does not order a ban.

Eisenhower labeled the Soviet announcement a propaganda gimmick. He wrote Khrushchev anew that the United States wants any test ban coupled with a mutual agreement to halt production of fissionable materials for military purposes.

MISSILES Getting Air Force Stress WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force estimates that by the middle 1960s about 60 per cent of the air defense units will be missile units, with manned aircraft accounting for only 40 per cent.

The prediction came today in published testimony by Lt. Gen. G. S. Irvine, Air Force deputy chief of staff for material, before a House Military Appropriations subcommittee.

"The over-all combat force is presently equipped with approximately 99 per cent manned aircraft units and 1 per cent missile units," he said.

Youth Gang Nabbed HAMILTON (AP) — Police Sunday rounded up five youths aged 14 to 17 and said they admitted staging a series of recent burglaries and auto thefts in the Middletown and Mayfield areas.

NYC Hearing Set COLUMBUS (AP) — The Utilities Commission today set May 15 for a further hearing on the request of the New York Central Railroad to discontinue its two night trains between Cincinnati and Toledo.

UAW To Offer Pact Extension

Deal Reported Hinged On Cut in Car Prices

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union today will propose that its contracts with the Big Three carmakers be extended for three months. One of the companies already was reported drafting its rejection.

The UAW said the plan would be presented to regular negotiating sessions this afternoon. It was learned that in exchange for the extension, the union will ask the automakers to cut car prices and boost unemployment benefits.

Companies involved are General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. Present UAW contracts expire about June 1 with all three.

The union said none of the three has seen the new proposal. But a spokesman for one of the companies, who insisted his firm remain unnamed at this time, said a drafting of its rejection already is in the works.

The amount of the car price slash was not disclosed. It was understood the union wants supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) raised from the present 60 to 65 per cent of worker take home pay to 80 per cent.

Some 450,000 of the UAW's 1,350,000 members now are idle.

IF THE INDUSTRY accepts the contract extension, the current pacts would run out just as it was ready to introduce its 1959 models. Observers said this would give the UAW a bargaining advantage since so many UAW members now are laid off and a strike at this time to back up contract demands would do little more than help the industry cut production of an already overstocked market.

The UAW is seeking a profit-sharing plan, a wage increase and other benefits in negotiations on present contracts.

OSU Architect Dies

COLUMBUS (AP) — Howard Smith, Ohio State University architect whose first major project was to design the giant Ohio Stadium, died Sunday at 72. He was designer of the majority of the buildings on the OSU campus.

GOP Campaign Chieftains Expecting Boost from Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower apparently will be asked to campaign this fall for some Senate and House Republicans who have given his legislative program considerably less than 100 per cent support.

Chairmen of the Senate and House GOP campaign committees are understood to be working now on arrangements they hope will lead to active participation by the President in the battle for control of Congress.

The two chairmen, Sen. Schepel (R-Kan) and Rep. Simpson (R-Pa.), have made it plain that they do not consider all-out backing for Eisenhower's legislative proposals as a prerequisite for their committees' help to candidates.

But campaign leaders are reported to feel that strategically spaced visits by Eisenhower to doubtful territory will add political zest to their uphill battle.

From a practical standpoint, they realize that even those GOP candidates who have disagreed openly with the President on his handling of the economic recession are likely to be swept along on whatever political tide is running at election time.

IF EISENHOWER'S calculations that there will be a business upturn and a drop in unemployment by fall are correct — and Schoepel is betting they are — most Republican candidates probably will be emphasizing that the GOP President refused to be panicked by Democratic demands for more massive and costly measures against the recession.

If the economy is stagnant or still sliding, few political strategists believe individual Republicans who called for more spending or tax cutting can escape the political consequences of what then is likely to be regarded as the administration's bad guess.

On the other hand, Democrats generally feel they have little to lose by advocating much more drastic anti-recession measures than Eisenhower thus far has been willing to undertake.

If the economy comes out of the doldrums, these Democrats feel they are in the position to say that recovery would have been swifter if their advice had been followed. If the trend still is down next fall, they are prepared to blame all Republicans along with Eisenhower.

Cardinal Stritch

Cardinal Loses Right Arm In Rome Surgery

ROME (AP) — The right arm of Samuel Cardinal Stritch, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, was amputated just above the elbow today to check a blood clot. The 70-year-old prelate's condition was described as very good.

The 35-minute operation was performed by Dr. Pietro Valdoni, famed Italian surgeon.

Two Chicago physicians assisted in the surgery on the veteran churchman who was stricken aboard ship en route to take up his new duties as prelate of the Vatican's worldwide mission activities. They were Dr. Ralph Bergen and Dr. John Keeley.

Dr. Filippo Rocchi of the Vatican medical staff, who also assisted, said the cardinal awoke soon after the operation and said he "was feeling fine and did not suffer any pain." Rocchi said the churchman probably would remain in the hospital about two weeks.

The cardinal was afflicted with a clot in the major artery of his arm which developed suddenly on the last two days of his voyage to Rome. Upon his arrival in Naples Friday, he was weak and pale and already had lost the use of his limb. Doctors said the arm was virtually lifeless.

The cardinal's amputated arm will be buried in sanctified ground, in accordance with church regulations.

Jacksonville Synagogue, School Bombed

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A Jewish synagogue and a Negro school were dynamited early today in this city's first outbreak of racial disorder.

No one was injured. A cache of dynamite placed at the rear of the Jewish center exploded at 12:30 a. m. It blew in windows and doors of the building and shattered windows in homes in the area.

Half an hour later a dynamite bomb tossed between two buildings at the James Weldon Johnson School exploded and caused damage estimated at $20,000.

An anonymous telephone call received at the Florida Times-Union newspaper at 12:45 a. m. said there would be three bombings during the night.

The caller said he was a member of the "confederate underground."

The caller said all segregationists must go free and that "we want no more Jews in Florida except at Miami Beach."

Rabbi Sydney M. Lefkowitz said he received a call from someone who said: "This is the Confederate Center of Information. We have just blown up your Jewish center. All integration in the South must stop."

11 Injured in Auto Mishaps During Saturday Outbreak

Nine persons were injured, none seriously, in a rash of auto accidents Saturday afternoon.

Three were treated at Berger Hospital as the result of a head-on collision on Route 22 about 2 of a mile east of the Circleville city limits.

Doris Boutin suffered contusions of the right arm and leg. Patricia Deering was treated for contusions and shock and Agnes Duffy was treated for shock. Boutin was fined $10 and costs for driving left of the centerline.

THREE OTHERS were hurt at 2:15 p. m. Saturday in a read-end collision along Route 104, about 18 miles northwest of Circleville.

An auto driven by Lester N. Cone, 64, Worthington, smashed into the rear of a car driven by Charlotte Haydon, 48, Commercial Point, according to the sheriff's office. It was reported that the Haydon vehicle was pulled off the side of the road and Cone couldn't stop in time to avoid hitting it in the rear.

Cone was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, suffering from possible chest injuries and an ankle injury.

Mrs. Haydon and Linda Haydon, 10, were referred to a physician. Mrs. Haydon suffered a possible chest injury and Linda suffered from shock.

John Irvin, 39, of Ashville, suffered cut lips, a possible nose injury and a cut forehead when he swerved his car off the road to avoid a bicycle rider. The accident happened at 3:20 p. m. Saturday about four miles north of Ashville on the Circleville-Lockbourne Road. He was referred to a physician.

Two persons were injured slightly at 6:25 p. m. Saturday when two cars collided at Route 22 and Route 104, according to the sheriff's department.

William J. B. Paul, 46, Eaton, Ind., and Goldie Thomas, 41, Route 1, Lancaster, suffered sprained necks when the car in which they were riding was hit in the rear by a car driven by Everett Hoskins, 67, Route 1, New Holland.

Paul told Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey that his auto was headed west on Route 22 and stopped at the intersection of Route 104 to make a left turn. Hoskins told Felkey that he saw the car stop but couldn't stop his own auto in time to keep from hitting the Paul vehicle in the rear.

SERRA, WHO wore a star earring in his left earlobe, gave police this account of how he killed Michael Ramos, 17, in a Bronx candy store Saturday night:

"I asked him if he was looking for me and he gave me a bad look. He looked at me from my head to my toes and I shot him."

Ramos had roots in three youth gangs. He had testified for the prosecution during the recent trial of seven gang members, charged in the killing of Michael Farmer, a crippled youth. But Deputy Police Inspector John V. Halk said: "There is definitely no connection between the Ramos death and the Farmer case."

The reserve bank heads also said that in any government public works program the stress should be on projects "that have been started and can readily be accelerated, or on projects that are past the planning stage and can be put into motion rapidly."

The reserve officials said that "quite moderate action" by the government might be enough if consumer spending generally holds up, if there is a normal seasonal pickup in such things as auto sales and residential building and if the contraction in business investment is not accelerated.

Youth Gang's Chief Jailed

Rival Mobster, 17, Killed with Shotgun

NEW YORK (AP)—The leader of a Bronx youth gang is accused of the shotgun slaying of a rival youthful mobster.

Kicking and screaming after he was seized by detectives at a Bronx street corner, Ramon Serra, 20, was hauled to a police station, where he was charged Sunday night with homicide.

Detectives cornered Serra, president of the Egyptian Crowns, as he tried to keep a sidewalk rendezvous with his girl friend.

The girl, Alice Bayron, 14, had led police to him.

Serra made a feeble effort to reach a fully loaded automatic pistol, which he had in his belt, before surrendering.

Bronx Dist. Atty. Daniel V. Sullivan said he would ask a first-degree murder indictment.

Engineer in Tux Attracts Police SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Starletted police halted a stray locomotive towing a small string of miniature railroad cars along a downtown street.

They identified the tuxedo-clad engineer as John O. Spice, 27, a Midland, Tex., Geologist. Spice told officers he and a feminine companion, in evening dress, took the rolling stock from a parking lot after leaving a party.

The train is used during the day to take customers from the parking lot to a department store.

Spice was booked on a charge of operating an unregistered vehicle on a public road.

UAW To Offer Pact Extension

Mass Paratroop Jump Called Off FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)—The commander of the 101st Airborne Division called off a mass air drop today after making a test jump with his aide.

"I had a good landing," said Maj. Gen. W. C. Westmoreland, "but I picked up considerable wind about 15 feet from the ground."

It took six men to stop the general and his aide, Capt. Stillman Hazeltine, from being dragged across the rough terrain.

The wind was estimated at close to 15 miles an hour near the ground today.

THE SOVIET has announced it is halting tests of atomic and hydrogen weapons and has called on the United States to do the same. Khrushchev says the Soviet Union is reserving the right to resume tests if this country does not order a ban.

Eisenhower labeled the Soviet announcement a propaganda gimmick. He wrote Khrushchev anew that the United States wants any test ban coupled with a mutual agreement to halt production of fissionable materials for military purposes.

MISSILES Getting Air Force Stress WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force estimates that by the middle 1960s about 60 per cent of the air defense units will be missile units, with manned aircraft accounting for only 40 per cent.

The prediction came today in published testimony by Lt. Gen. G. S. Irvine, Air Force deputy chief of staff for material, before a House Military Appropriations subcommittee.

"The over-all combat force is presently equipped with approximately 99 per cent manned aircraft units and 1 per cent missile units," he said.

NYC Hearing Set COLUMBUS (AP)—The Utilities Commission today set May 15 for a further hearing on the request of the New York Central Railroad to discontinue its two night trains between Cincinnati and Toledo.

Cardinal Loses Right Arm In Rome Surgery

ROME (AP)—The right arm of Samuel Cardinal Stritch, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, was amputated just above the elbow today to check a blood clot. The 70-year-old prelate's condition was described as very good.

The 35-minute operation was performed by Dr. Pietro Valdini, famed Italian surgeon.

Two Chicago physicians assisted in the surgery on the veteran churchman who was stricken aboard ship en route to take up his new duties as primate of the Vatican's worldwide mission activities. They were Dr. Ralph Bergen and Dr. John Keeley.

Dr. Filippo Rocchi of the Vatican medical staff, who also assisted, said the cardinal awoke soon after the operation and said he "was feeling fine and did not suffer any pain." Rocchi said the churchman probably would remain in the hospital about two weeks.

The cardinal was afflicted with a clot in the major artery of his arm which developed suddenly on the last two days of his voyage to Rome. Upon his arrival in Naples Friday, he was weak and pale and already had lost the use of his limb. Doctors said the arm was virtually lifeless.

The cardinal's amputated arm will be buried in sanctified ground, in accordance with church regulations.

Jacksonville Synagogue, School Bombed JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A Jewish synagogue and a Negro school were dynamited early today in this city's first outbreak of racial disorder.

No one was injured.

A cache of dynamite placed at the rear of the Jewish center exploded at 12:30 a. m. It blew in windows and doors of the building and shattered windows in homes in the area.

Half an hour later a dynamite bomb tossed between two buildings at the James Weldon Johnson School exploded and caused damage estimated at $20,000.

An anonymous telephone call received at the Florida Times-Union newspaper at 12:45 a. m. said there would be three bombings during the night.

The caller said he was a member of the "confederate underground."

The caller said all segregationists must go free and that "we want no more Jews in Florida except at Miami Beach."

Rabbi Sydney M. Lefkowitz said he received a call from someone who said: "This is the Confederate Center of Information. We have just blown up your Jewish center. All integration in the South must stop."

Pirina Seeks Suit Dismissal

Home Owners Say
Damages Incurred

The local Ralston Pirina Co. Saturday filed a motion in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court asking for dismissal of a suit against the firm due to lack of prosecution.

The firm was sued Dec. 20, 1954, by eight property owners who maintain homes near the S. Court St. mill area. The owners, represented by Attorneys Emmitt Crist and Ray Davis, contend that the mill manufacturing operation has caused various damages to their properties. They ask for damages amounting to $35,500.

The suit states that processing and grinding of feed, conducted here since 1940, has caused dust, dirt, smoke and soot to escape into the atmosphere. According to the plaintiffs, these particles were deposited on their homes, trees, lawns and sidewalks.

Because of this condition, the area owners maintain that it is offensive and injurious to the health of their families and render their property undesirable and depreciates its value.

The plaintiffs are Catherine Green, 902 S. Court St. suing for $5,000; George C. Barnes, 619 N. Court St., $4,000; T. M. Barnes, $4,500; Carrie Umsted et al, $5,000; Kenneth M. May, Route 3, Circleville, $4,000; Charles T. Carle, 816 S. Court St., $4,000; George Welker, et al, Florida, $4,000; and Earl Price et al, 118 Edison Ave., $5,000.

Along with the damages, a permanent injunction against the continued air contamination was asked. In 1956 the defendant filed a motion for the plaintiffs to strike certain portions of their petitions and make other parts definite and certain.

On Aug. 12, 1957, Judge William Ammer rendered an opinion, on which he sustained and overruled certain parts of the Pirina Company's motion, thereby requiring the plaintiffs to amend their petition within 15 days after Aug. 23, 1957. To this date the area owners have not filed their amended petition.

The Pirina Co., represented by Joseph W. Adkins Jr. and Charles H. May, has filed its dismissal motion because some of the suing parties no longer reside in the area.

Purina Seeks Suit Dismissal

Home Owners Say Damages Incurred

The local Ralston Purina Co. Saturday filed a motion in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court asking for dismissal of a suit against the firm due to lack of prosecution.

The firm was sued Dec. 20, 1954, by eight property owners who maintain homes near the S. Court St. mill area. The owners, represented by Attorneys Emmitt Crist and Ray Davis, contend that the mill manufacturing operation has caused various damages to their properties. They ask for damages amounting to $35,500.

The suit states that processing and grinding of feed, conducted here since 1940, has caused dust, dirt, smoke and soot to escape into the atmosphere. According to the plaintiffs, these particles were deposited on their homes, trees, lawns and sidewalks.

Because of this condition, the area owners maintain that it is offensive and injurious to the health of their families and render their property undesirable and depreciates its value.

The plaintiffs are Catherine Green, 902 S. Court St. suing for $5,000; George C. Barnes, 619 N. Court St., $4,000; T. M. Barnes, $4,500; Carrie Umsted et al., $5,000; Kenneth M. May, Route 3, Circleville, $4,000; Charles T. Carle, 816 S. Court St., $4,000; George Welker, et al., Florida, $4,000; and Earl Price et al., 118 Edison Ave., $5,000.

Along with the damages, a permanent injunction against the continued air contamination was asked. In 1956 the defendant filed a motion for the plaintiffs to strike certain portions of their petitions and make other parts definite and certain.

On Aug. 12, 1957, Judge William Ammer rendered an opinion, on which he sustained and overruled certain parts of the Purina Company's motion, thereby requiring the plaintiffs to amend their petition within 15 days after Aug. 23, 1957. To this date the area owners have not filed their amended petition.

The Purina Co., represented by Joseph W. Adkins Jr. and Charles H. May, has filed its dismissal motion because some of the suing parties no longer reside in the area.

Stock Mart Is Irregular, Some Higher

NEW YORK (U.S.A.) — The stock market was irregular with higher tendencies in early afternoon today. Trading was at a moderate pace.

Some leading issues rose fractions to more than a point. Most losses were under a point.

The market opened higher, became mixed in early trading, then showed a little improvement about midday.

Some of the best gains were in specialties, papers, rubbers and other specialties. Steels, motors and oils were the most active divisions and were mixed to a little higher.

Parke, Davis and International Paper rose around two points. Up a point or so were Goodrich and Pfizer.

Small gainers included Bethlehem, U.S. Steel, Chrysler, Goodrich, Caterpillar, Douglas Aircraft, Phelps Dodge, Dow Chemical, Westinghouse, American Can, United Air Lines, U.S. Gypsum and Sinclair.

Down fractions were General Motors, International Harvester, Consolidated Edison, Southern Railway, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Standard Oil (New Jersey).

U.S. government bonds declined.

6 Million Idle Total Predicted

AFL-CIO Boss Sees Unemployment Rise

WASHINGTON (U.S.A.) — George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said today he is quite sure unemployment will go close to six million in June unless some miracle happens.

Meany gave the estimate to reporters after a closed meeting of the AFL-CIO General Board, comprising representatives of all AFL-CIO unions. The latest government count was 5,200,000 unemployed in March.

The board adopted a statement saying that little to combat the recession has been accomplished despite the 1946 employment act, making it federal responsibility to "promote maximum employment, production and purchasing power."

"As a result the nation is faced with a depression," the statement said.

Meanwhile, a Senate-Economic subcommittee heard a generally gloomy appraisal of the nation's economic outlook. Most witnesses urged further government action to counter the recession.

THE MOST optimistic testimony was given by William F. Butler, vice-president of New York City's Chase Manhattan Bank. He expressed belief the economic slump is approaching bottom and "we shall see a renewed advance before year's end."

Paul A. Samuelson, a professor of economics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said in prepared testimony that the present recession is worse than any previous postwar downturn and the end is not yet in sight.

Samuelson said that within the government "there seems to have been a rather shocking failure to recognize the seriousness of the situation."

Nixon Visits Uruguay on Goodwill Trip

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay — Vice President Richard Nixon today inaugurates an eight-nation tour of South America with a two-day visit to Uruguay, one of the Soviet Union's best potential customers in this hemisphere.

Nixon's arrival coincided with a turn to the Kremlin by this nation of 2 1/2 million persons which, although agriculturally rich, is in the throes of an economic crisis.

Because of a drastic cutback in her trade on this side of the Atlantic, dollar-short Uruguay now is dicker with the Soviet Union for 10 tankerloads of petroleum and 2,000 tons of cotton. U.S. oil suppliers have been told Uruguay will be unable to pay dollars for oil before 1960. Payment to the Soviets will be made through sales of Uruguayan wool and meat.

Leaving Washington Sunday, Nixon told reporters that economic problems head the list for his 18-day goodwill sweep through Uruguay, Argentina, Paraguay, Bolivia, Peru, Ecuador, Colombia and Venezuela.

The trip is built around the inauguration May 1 of Argentine President Arturo Frondizi. Nixon goes to Buenos Aires Wednesday.

En route to Montevideo, Nixon and his party stopped off briefly in Port of Spain, Trinidad, where he hailed the new Federation of the West Indies as the challenging opening of a new era.

3 Suffer Injuries
During Weekend

Barry Hennis, 9, 218 E. Franklin St., was injured slightly when he ran into a tree at 7:20 p. m. Saturday. He was treated for a small laceration on the left eyelid at Berger Hospital and released.

Mrs. Talmer Wise, 56, of 146 E. Franklin St., suffered a compound fracture of the left wrist when she fell in her home. She was taken to White Cross Hospital, Columbus.

James Wilson, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson, Tarlton, fell off a hobby horse at 6:30 p. m. Sunday while playing at home. He was treated for a laceration of the forehead at Berger Hospital and released.

Hospital Escapee, 21, Pistol-Whips Teenager

DAYTON (U.S.A.) — An escapee from Dayton State Hospital, seeking revenge against a teenage girl who spurned him two months ago, caught up with her as she walked through her high school hallway this morning and whipped her about the head with a pistol.

Officers arrested Glenn Jackson, 21, a few blocks away from the Dayton Dunbar High School about an hour later. He was returned to the hospital. The girl was treated for scalp lacerations.

Jail Prisoner Wed

Kenneth Dreisher, 21, Lockbourne Air Force Base, and Penny Elaine Angel, 21, Dayton, were married Saturday by Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb. Dreisher is a prisoner in the Pickaway County Jail, charged with petit larceny and two charges of stealing auto parts.

Breaking, Entering Brings Probation

Shirley Heeter Jr., 23, Nicholas Drive, was placed on three years probation Saturday in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court on charges of auto theft and breaking and entering.

Heeter was released from the Ohio State Penitentiary where he served time for similar offenses in Fairfield County. Heeter allegedly stole a motor vehicle and broke into a Tarlton combination grocery and postoffice in 1955.

Knowland's Labor
Bill Effort Fails

WASHINGTON (U.S.A.) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) virtually conceded defeat today in his fight to broaden a pension-welfare fund bill into general labor legislation.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said he expected the Senate would complete action on the bill today after votes on a series of amendments to expand the measure. But he made it clear that he doesn't expect any of the amendments to be accepted.

Pending before the Senate as it began work was a proposal lifted out of President Eisenhower's labor program by Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.).

Two city police cruisers were slightly damaged yesterday when they collided while chasing Lutz May, 77, Route 2, who was charged with running a stop sign.

25 Drivers Fined for Traffic Violations during Weekend

Twenty-five errant drivers appeared in Circleville Municipal Court Saturday and today for traffic violations.

Two men paid heavily for driving while under the influence of alcohol. They were Thomas E. Lutz, 30, Route 3, and Robert R. Shaffer, 33, Columbus. Each was fined $200 and costs, sentenced to 10 days in the county jail and had his driver's license suspended for one year. Shaffer paid an additional $25 and costs for failing to stop within an assured clear distance ahead.</

Stock Market Fails To Bobble At 'Bad News'

Wall Street Experts Explain: Investors See Upturn Ahead

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Why does bad news have so little effect these days on the stock market?

Bethlehem Steel reported it didn't earn enough in the first three months of this year to cover its dividend rate. But the price of the stock scarcely wobbled.

Chrysler reported a net loss and cut its dividend. The price of its stock dropped $2 but then rallied a bit and there was no rush to unload.

Some see in this and in many recent like instances evidence that traders some time ago foresaw the bad news and revalued the stocks at that time.

Others see in the market's stubborn refusal to respond to bad news a sign that stock traders generally—and these include some of the big investing institutions—have decided that the business slump which the stock market foretold in its plunge last summer and fall is bottoming out and that an upturn will be coming along in due course. The prospect of more inflation plays a big part in this.

Although last week saw a flood of corporate profit and loss statements that leaned heavily to the bad side, stock prices as a whole shrugged the news off. The Associated Press stock price index opened the week at 165 and closed at 167, high for this year.

Because it is so basic the steel industry got particular attention. With one minor exception all of the 20 companies to report so far have shown declines in earnings from the first three months of 1957. Combined their profits this year are off 66 per cent. The largest, U.S. Steel, reports Tuesday.

What stock traders paid attention to wasn't the expected drop in earnings but that Bethlehem Steel paid its usual dividend despite the profit slump because it was confident of a rebound which its officials say should start in the late summer and fall.

Most auto companies have felt the profit pinch—which couldn't come as a surprise to any stock trader or anyone else. With General Motors yet to be heard from, auto earnings are down 94 per cent from last year, Chrysler playing the big role in the drop.

However, with the auto industry there is always next year. The stock market seems to be saying it believes 1959 will be better than 1958.

2 Democrat Candidates Lash O'Neill

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—Two candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor—Robert N. Gorman, Cincinnati attorney, and Albert S. Porter, Cuyahoga County engineer—attacked the state Republican administration in talks here Sunday.

Gorman, a former Ohio Supreme Court judge, said it takes "more than a mere lawyer to be governor of Ohio. We have a lawyer now, and look at what's been happening."

Declaring that Gov. C. William O'Neill has "stumbled through 15 months of bumbling confusion," Gorman said the people of Ohio want "something approaching statecraft in Columbus instead of a slipshod performance of fancy-dan sidestepping."

He said he had legislative, judicial and administrative experience "from the time 30 years ago when I helped draft Cincinnati's new charter."

Porter took cracks at O'Neill's administration and asked party workers to get behind him, "the only Democrat who can win in November."

He said his bandwagon is "now rolling" and urged those who have supported others of the seven Democratic candidates to get on the Porter bandwagon.

"I shall never evade the issues confronting the Democratic party and its candidates," Porter said. "You will know exactly where I stand. Ohio democracy calls for this kind of leadership. We are sadly lacking in it now."

Farmers Retiring Less '58 Land

WASHINGTON (AP)—Signup of farmers for this year's acreage reserve is drawing to a close with nearly 18 per cent less productive land being retired from crops than a year ago.

Total payments to farmers participating in this part of the soil bank may total about $700 million compared with $614 million last year.

The payments will run higher this year because more cotton, corn and tobacco acreage and less wheat land will be held out of production than last year. Rates average higher for cotton, corn and tobacco than for wheat.

Politicians Agree about Dinner Tickets, but Differ on Price Setup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Politicians agree that dinners are fine for raising campaign funds but they differ on the policy of ticket pricing.

The long-standing issue gained new attention from published accounts of a Democratic banquet costing $50 a plate and a series of Republican dinners for $10 a guest.

GOP fund-raisers professed embarrassment over accounts that Civil Service employees in the Highway Department were pressured into buying $10 tickets for dinners to help the election campaigns of Gov. C. William O'Neill and other GOP candidates.

Dale Fulton, the governor's representative in state Republican headquarters, said some ticket sellers apparently were over zealous. He said sales were strictly voluntary and that coercion was against administration policy.

Charles M. Noble, state highway chief, issued orders against ticket selling by employees on state time and promised discipline for violations.

O'Neill declined comment on the published reports. He said earlier that state department heads were told to keep ticket sales on a voluntary basis.

About 3,300 turned out for the first two O'Neill dinners in Marietta and Cleveland. Others are scheduled in Columbus today, Toledo, Tuesday and Dayton, Wednesday.

Fulton said many tickets were sold for only $2, about the cost of the dinners, and that a large attendance was the prime objective rather than fund-raising. He said sale figures were not available and insisted that little if any profit would be realized.

About 400 Democrats turned out for a $50-a-plate dinner in Columbus featuring U.S. Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), a highly regarded party prospect for the presidential nomination two years hence.

State Democratic headquarters said the dinners cost $4 apiece but declined to estimate the net profit pending complete reports on ticket sales.

William L. Coleman, state Democratic chairman, said the Ohio Jefferson-Jackson Day banquet, for all practical purposes, marked the end of the party's primary campaigns and signaled the opening of the fall election drive.

Michael V. DiSalle, titular head of Ohio Democrats again seeking the gubernatorial nomination, cited regulations against soliciting Civil Service workers for campaign contributions.

"It is voluntary if they want to eat," he observed, adding: "I want no part of it."

A veteran politician said state officials in past administrations counted on financial campaign help from their employees but sought to avoid any hint of undue persuasion.

He said department heads probably would buy several $10 dinner tickets and give them to lower paid workers who would attend but would be more likely to purchase only one $50 ticket for themselves.

Some criticism usually follows sale of high priced tickets, he added and opined that fund-raisers might as well charge the higher price. Those who pay the top price may not be happy about it but they won't complain much and promoters of those affairs are less likely to expose themselves to charges of coercion, he explained.

Advocates of lower prices affairs assert that voluntary contributions build up the morale of rank and file employees in the party because they feel they have a stake in the election of their boss.

The increasingly high cost of election campaigning makes fund-raising more urgent and complicates the problem, politicians added.

Atty. Gen. William Saxbe, Republican incumbent, possibly is the most forthright of state officials in reporting on contributions. He said a series of five $50 dinners netted about $40,000 for his campaign but stressed that ticket sales were to friends and that employees who attended paid only $2 each to cover cost of the meal.

Both Saxbe and O'Neill fund-raising efforts were made with approval of Republican state headquarters which usually pools contributions for distribution to candidates only in the general election.

Democratic state headquarters, which usually helps party candidates only in a general way rather than through direct contributions, is considering a shift to the GOP plan of campaign financing, Coleman reports.

Probably the most ambitious fund-raising effort of the 1958 campaign is contemplated by Republicans who plan a $100-a-plate dinner in Cleveland after the May 6 primary election.

Missiles Chief Slated To Dine with O'Neill

COLUMBUS (AP)—A breakfast meeting at the governor's mansion Friday between Gov. C. William O'Neill and Maj. Gen. John Medaris, Army ballistic missiles chief, will be carried live over Dave Garraway's "Today" television show.

About 50 Ohio industrialists also will attend the breakfast.

Gen. Medaris will be in Columbus that day to address an assembly of engineering students at Ohio State University.

Last year was stormy, with Congress embroiled over civil rights. This has been a fairly quiet year, but an uneasy one, and intense.

By James Marlow

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—This busy Congress, bewildered first by the Sputniks and then by the recession, has its busiest days ahead.

When the legislators quit for 1957 last summer there had been no Sputniks and they were not very conscious of the dropping American economy.

They could look forward—so it seemed—to be a fairly routine session in 1958 and then the campaigns for the November elections. But then the Soviets sent up their Sputniks. Congress came back in January excited about the missile race, hardly noticing the deepening recession.

By this time this country got up its three little satellites the broadening gloom of the recession hit Congress square in the face.

Between January and now, Congress has worked pretty hard, passing legislation which could be called anti-recession measures.

But the Congress members, like the Eisenhower administration, have shown some bewilderment in coping with this recession problem.

How to get the economy back on the track without derailing it by doing too much or too little too soon or too late?

Now Congress is in its closing months of 1958 with its biggest and most heated issues ahead.

Here are some of the major tasks awaiting completion by Congress:

1. The election campaign. Even when its work is done it must go home and face the voters. All 435 House seats and 34 of the 96 Senate seats are at stake next November.

2. Unemployment pay. It's struggling with a bill to give extra benefits to jobless people who have already exhausted their or who never got any at all.

3. The recession. Even unemployment pay may not be enough. If the recession gets worse, far more action may be needed.

4. Reciprocal trade and foreign aid. President Eisenhower wants both renewed. He seems certain to get both. The question is: In what form?

5. Streamlining the Defense Department. Eisenhower insists on action. It's an angry issue, with some lawmakers mightily stubborn against him.

6. Pension and welfare funds. The Senate almost surely will approve this week a measure to protect such funds for employees. But this can't become law until the House also acts.

7. More regulations on unions. Before it leaves, Congress may have to tackle major labor legislation, which may also put clamps on employers too.

8. Outer space. Congress is wrestling in this new field with the idea of setting up an outer space agency. The question here is: Civilian or military control of it?

9. Appropriations. This is the problem Congress faces every year: Voting enough money to keep the government running.

Last year was stormy, with Congress embroiled over civil rights. This has been a fairly quiet year, but an uneasy one, and intense.

FBI Says Most Ohio Crime Categories Show Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—Crime in Ohio cities—except for murder and aggravated assault—continued on the increase last year.

A new study by the FBI shows increases in manslaughter by negligence, rape, robbery, burglary, larceny and auto theft in 1957 as compared with 1956.

The most serious crime of all, murder, showed some sharp declines in a few of Ohio's big cities.

Murders in Akron went from 16 to 11; in Cleveland, from 91 to 82; in Columbus, from 23 to 11; in Dayton, from 30 to 25. Youngstown showed the largest increase in this category for the largest metropolitan area—8 to 17.

But the overall decline in murders was hardly spectacular. Of the 177 cities studied, with a combined population of 5,097,033, the total for murders went from 276 to 252 or a drop of 24.

Aggravated assault—meaning assault with intent to kill or by shooting, cutting, poisoning, scalding—declined from 2,472 to 2,032.

In its overall conclusion for the nation, the FBI report found record totals in every major crime category and said further that a tremendous number of arrests were of young hoodlums under 18. There was not state breakdown.

Antique Car Stolen

DALLAS (AP)—It must have been a chief with a yen for the good old days who took Lloyd Thompson's car, a 1925 Model T Ford with pink wheel spokes.

about juvenile crime, but it can safely be assumed that Ohio contributed a substantial share to this category.

"For the crimes against property (robbery, burglary, auto theft and other larcenies)," said the report on the national situation, "young people under 18 represented 53.1 per cent of all arrests."

Increases in these classifications in Ohio were as follows:

Robbery—from 2,452 to 3,092; burglary—from 16,741 to 19,177; larceny-theft—from 58,741 to 64,630; auto theft—from 9,976 to 10,497.

Long Star List Booked for Fair

Ousted Cleric Is Backed by 4th of Parish

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Rev. William F. Behr preached his last sermon Sunday at St. Paul's United Church of Christ (Evangelical and Reformed) in Parma, and when he walked out he took more than one-fourth of the congregation with him.

Fifty of the 186 persons in the church walked out after the minister dramatically removed his white stole, placed it over the altar cross and invited those who wished to follow him to do so.

The Rev. Mr. Behr was ousted Wednesday night by an 8-1 vote of the church council. Church officials declined to say what was behind the ouster.

The minister said a new congregation will be formed and it will be a "free congregational" type as to denomination. He says the controversy began over a local congregational problem and grew into a real schism because of the manner in which his ouster was handled.

The Rev. Mr. Behr said 73 of the 247 members of the church are committed to leaving St. Paul's and joining the new congregation.

Plans are being made to hold services for the new group beginning next Sunday in a three-car garage in North Royalton.

An official of the northeast Ohio synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Church said the parent congregation will seek pastoral assistance from the synod until a new resident pastor is secured.

Police Shoot Man, 36, In Probe of Holdup

AKRON (AP)—Police investigating two store holdups shot Herman B. Shaffer, 36, Sunday. He is in critical condition in a hospital.

Detectives said they stopped a car in which Shaffer and another man were riding. Shaffer jumped out of the car and ran. Police said four warning shots were fired before he was wounded.

The holdups netted $100 from one store and an undetermined amount from another.

Stock Market Fails To Bobble At 'Bad News'

Wall Street Experts Explain: Investors See Upturn Ahead

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Why does bad news have so little effect these days on the stock market?

Bethlehem Steel reported it didn't earn enough in the first three months of this year to cover its dividend rate. But the price of the stock scarcely wobbled.

Chrysler reported a net loss and cut its dividend. The price of its stock dropped $2 but then rallied a bit and there was no rush to unload.

Some see in this and in many recent like instances evidence that traders some time ago foresaw the bad news and revalued the stocks at that time.

Others see in the market's stubborn refusal to respond to bad news a sign that stock traders generally—and these include some of the big investing institutions—have decided that the business slump which the stock market foretold in its plunge last summer and fall is bottoming out and that an upturn will be coming along in due course. The prospect of more inflation plays a big part in this.

Although last week saw a flood of corporate profit and loss statements that leaned heavily to the bad side, stock prices as a whole shrugged the news off. The Associated Press stock price index opened the week at 165 and closed at 167, high for this year.

Because it is so basic the steel industry got particular attention. With one minor exception all of the 20 companies to report so far have shown declines in earnings from the first three months of 1957. Combined their profits this year are off 66 per cent. The largest, U.S. Steel, reports Tuesday.

What stock traders paid attention to wasn't the expected drop in earnings but that Bethlehem Steel paid its usual dividend despite the profit slump because it was confident of a rebound which its officials say should start in the late summer and fall.

Most auto companies have felt the profit pinch—which couldn't come as a surprise to any stock trader or anyone else. With General Motors yet to be heard from, auto earnings are down 94 per cent from last year, Chrysler playing the big role in the drop. However, with the auto industry there is always next year. The stock market seems to be saying it believes 1959 will be better than 1958.

2 Democrat Candidates Lash O'Neill

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—Two candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor—Robert N. Gorman, Cincinnati attorney, and Albert S. Porter, Cuyahoga County engineer—attacked the state Republican administration in talks here Sunday.

Gorman, a former Ohio Supreme Court judge, said it takes "more than a mere lawyer to be governor of Ohio. We have a lawyer now, and look at what's been happening."

Declaring that Gov. C. William O'Neill has "stumbled through 15 months of bumbling confusion," Gorman said the people of Ohio want "something approaching statecraft in Columbus instead of a slipshod performance of fancy-dan sidestepping."

He said he had legislative, judicial and administrative experience "from the time 30 years ago when I helped draft Cincinnati's new charter."

Porter took cracks at O'Neill's administration and asked party workers to get behind him, "the only Democrat who can win in November."

He said his bandwagon is "now rolling" and urged those who have supported others of the seven Democratic candidates to get on the Porter bandwagon.

"I shall never evade the issues confronting the Democratic party and its candidates," Porter said. "You will know exactly where I stand. Ohio democracy calls for this kind of leadership. We are sadly lacking in it now."

Farmers Retiring Less '58 Land

WASHINGTON (AP)—Signup of farmers for this year's acreage reserve is drawing to a close with nearly 18 per cent less productive land being retired from crops than a year ago.

Total payments to farmers participating in this part of the soil bank may total about $700 million compared with $614 million last year.

The payments will run higher this year because more cotton, corn and tobacco acreage and less wheat land will be held out of production than last year. Rates average higher for cotton, corn and tobacco than for wheat.

Politicians Agree about Dinner Tickets, but Differ on Price Setup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Politicians agree that winners are fine for raising campaign funds but they differ on the policy of ticket pricing.

The long-standing issue gained new attention from published accounts of a Democratic banquet costing $50 a plate and a series of Republican dinners for $10 a guest.

GOP fund-raisers professed embarrassment over accounts that the Civil Service employees in the Highway Department were pressured into helping $10 tickets for dinners to help the election campaigns of Gov. C. William O'Neill and other GOP candidates.

Dale Fulton, the governor's representative in state Republican headquarters, said some ticket sellers apparently were over zealous. He said sales were strictly voluntary and that coercion was against administration policy.

Charles M. Noble, state highway chief, issued orders against ticket selling by employees on state time and promised discipline for violations.

O'Neill declined comment on the published reports. He said earlier that state department heads were told to keep ticket sales on a voluntary basis.

About 3,300 turned out for the first two O'Neill dinners in Marietta and Cleveland. Others are scheduled in Columbus today, Toledo, Tuesday and Dayton, Wednesday.

Fulton said many tickets were sold for only $2, about the cost of the dinners, and that a large attendance was the prime objective rather than fund-raising. He said sale figures were not available and insisted that little if any profit would be realized.

About 400 Democrats turned out for a $50-a-plate dinner in Columbus featuring U.S. Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), a highly regarded party prospect for the presidential nomination two years hence.

State Democratic headquarters said the dinners cost $4 apiece but declined to estimate the net profit pending complete reports on ticket sales.

William L. Coleman, state Democratic chairman, said the Ohio Jefferson-Jackson Day banquet, for all practical purposes, marked the end of the party's primary campaigns and signaled the opening of the fall election drive.

Michael V. DiSalle, titular head of Ohio Democrats again seeking the gubernatorial nomination, cited regulations against soliciting Civil Service workers for campaign contributions.

A veteran politician said state officials in past administrations counted on financial campaign help from their employees but sought to avoid any hint of undue persuasion.

He said department heads probably would buy several $10 dinner tickets and give them to lower paid workers who would attend but would be more likely to purchase only one $50 ticket for themselves.

Some criticism usually follows sale of high priced tickets, he added and opined that fund-raisers might as well charge the higher price. Those who pay the top price may not be happy about it

Ousted Cleric Is Backed by 4th of Parish

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Rev. William F. Behr preached his last sermon Sunday at St. Paul's United Church of Christ (Evangelical and Reformed) in Parma, and when he walked out he took more than one-fourth of the congregation with him.

Fifty of the 186 persons in the church walked out after the minister dramatically removed his white stole, placed it over the altar cross and invited those who wished to follow him to do so.

The Rev. Mr. Behr was ousted Wednesday night by an 8-1 vote of the church council. Church officials declined to say what was behind the ouster.

The minister said a new congregation will be formed and it will be a "free congregational" type as to denomination. He says the controversy began over a local congregational problem and grew into a real schism because of the manner in which his ouster was handled.

The Rev. Mr. Behr said 73 of the 247 members of the church are committed to leaving St. Paul's and joining the new congregation.

Plans are being made to hold services for the new group beginning next Sunday in a three-car garage in North Royalton.

An official of the northeast Ohio synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Church said the parent congregation will seek pastoral assistance from the synod until a new resident pastor is secured.

Police Shoot Man, 36, In Probe of Holdup

AKRON (AP)—Police investigating two store holdups shot Herman B. Shaffer, 36, Sunday. He is in critical condition in a hospital. Detectives said they stopped a man were riding. Shaffer jumped out of the car and ran. Police said four warning shots were fired before he was wounded. The holdups netted $100 from one store and an undetermined amount from another.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—This busy Congress, bewildered first by the Sputniks and then by the recession, has its busiest days ahead.

When the legislators quit for 1957 last summer there had been no Sputniks and they were not very conscious of the dropping American economy.

They could look forward—so it seemed—to be a fairly routine session in 1958 and then the campaigns for the November elections. But then the Soviets sent up their Sputniks. Congress came back in January excited about the missile race, hardly noticing the deepening recession.

By this time this country got up its three little satellites the broadening gloom of the recession hit Congress square in the face.

Between January and now, Congress has worked pretty hard, passing legislation which could be called anti-recession measures.

But the Congress members, like the Eisenhower administration, have shown some bewilderment in coping with this recession problem.

How to get the economy back

By James Marlow

on the track without derailing it by doing too much or too little too soon or too late?

Now Congress is in its closing months of 1958 with its biggest and most heated issues ahead.

Here are some of the major tasks awaiting completion by Congress:

1. The election campaign. Even when its work is done it must go home and face the voters. All 435 House seats and 34 of the 96 Senate seats are at stake next November.

2. Unemployment pay. It's struggling with a bill to give extra benefits to jobless people who have already exhausted theirs or who never got any at all.

3. The recession. Even unemployment pay may not be enough. If the recession gets worse, far more action may be needed.

4. Reciprocal trade and foreign aid. President Eisenhower wants both renewed. He seems certain to get both. The question is: In what form?

5. Streamlining the Defense Department. Eisenhower insists on action. It's any angry issue, with some lawmakers mighty stubborn against him.

6. Pension and welfare funds. The Senate almost surely will approve this week a measure to protect such funds for employees. But this can't become law until the House also acts.

7. More regulations on unions. Before it leaves, Congress may have to tackle major labor legislation, which may also put clamps on employers too.

8. Outer space. Congress is wrestling in this new field with the idea of setting up an outer space agency. The question here is: Civilian or military control of it?

9. Appropriations. This is the problem Congress faces every year: Voting enough money to keep the government running.

Last year was stormy, with Congress embroiled over civil rights. This has been a fairly quiet year, but an uneasy one, and intense.

Missiles Chief Slated To Dine with O'Neill

COLUMBUS (AP)—A breakfast meeting at the governor's mansion Friday between Gov. C. William O'Neill and Maj. Gen. Wilbur Medaris, Army ballistic missiles chief, will be carried live over Dave Garraway's "Today" television show.

About 50 Ohio industrialists also will attend the breakfast.

Gen. Medaris will be in Columbus that day to address an assembly of engineering students at Ohio State University.

FBI Says Most Ohio Crime Categories Show Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—Crime in Ohio cities—except for murder and aggravated assault—continued on the increase last year.

A new study by the FBI shows increases in manslaughter by negligence, rape, robbery, burglary, larceny and auto theft in 1957 as compared with 1956.

The most serious crime of all, murder, showed some sharp declines in a few of Ohio's big cities.

Murders in Akron went from 16 to 11; in Cleveland, from 91 to 82; in Columbus, from 23 to 11; in Dayton, from 30 to 25. Youngstown showed the largest increase in this category for the largest metropolitan area—from 8 to 17.

But the overall decline in murders was hardly spectacular. Of the 177 cities studied, with a combined population of 5,097,033, the total for murders went from 276 to 252 or a drop of 24.

Aggravated assault—meaning assault with intent to kill or by shooting, cutting, poisoning, scalding—declined from 2,472 to 2,032.

In its overall conclusion for the nation, the FBI report found record totals in every major crime category and said further that a tremendous number of arrests were of young hoodlums under 18.

There was not state breakdown

about juvenile crime, but it can safely be assumed that Ohio contributed a substantial share to this category.

"For the crimes against property (robbery, burglary, auto theft and other larcenies)," said the report on the national situation, "young people under 18 represented 53.1 per cent of all arrests."

Increases in these classifications in Ohio were as follows:

Robbery—from 2,452 to 3,092; burglary—from 16,741 to 19,177; larceny-theft—from 58,741 to 64,630; auto theft—from 9,076 to 10,497.

Long Star List Booked for Fair

COLUMBUS (AP)—A long list of star entertainers for Ohio's state fair opening for eight days starting Friday, Aug. 22, was announced Saturday by D. Robert Jones, fair manager.

Television, recording and movie performers have been lined up for 25 shows during the eight days. Individual performers like Tommy Sands, Erin O'Brien, George Gobel, Dean Martin, Ted Lewis, Ben Alexander of Dragnet, Sky King and Penny, Gabby Hayes, Bob Crosby, Molly Bee, Roger Williams, Johnny Cash, Smiley Burnette, will be supported by the Lennon Sisters, the June Taylor dancers and the Jimmy Dorsey orchestra.

Independence Is Obnoxious

While Russia retains her present leadership and pursues her present policies, can any nation associated with her be free? The premise of neutralism—as in India, Egypt, Indonesia—is that such peaceful co-existence is possible.

The record hardly bears out such optimism. Voluntary and involuntary associates of Russia alike find that under Khrushchev as under Stalin the idea of their independence is obnoxious to the Kremlin.

Czechoslovakia was independent in 1947, having let Russia annex Ruthenia as the price of that freedom. But when Prague applied for Marshall Plan aid, orders came from Moscow to reject it, and Benes knuckled under. Then in February, 1948, the communists seized control of Czechoslovakia by force from a people convinced by the presence of the Soviet army on their border that it was futile to resist.

Czechoslovakia is an old story, but is worth remembering. Its people draw their culture and traditions (or did until 1948) from the mainstream of Western civilization. Twice in a generation the West has abandoned them, out of fear or apathy, to dictators who despised Western civilization.

Yugoslavia is an independent communist country. Tito appears to be prepared to fight Russia for Yugoslav independence if he has to. So Stalin in 1948 launched a cold war against Yugoslavia, expecting to bring about Tito's downfall and set up a puppet Stalinist regime in Belgrade. This design failed.

In 1955 Khrushchev visited Belgrade with Bulganin and debased himself before Tito. Russia had been wrong, he said; now she wanted to be friends. Yugoslavia had every right to follow her own separate path to "socialism," he added.

But has Russia really accepted Yugoslavia's independence? She has not. Repeated attacks on Yugoslav policy, appearing in Moscow and parroted by the satellite press, have revealed her dissatisfaction. Yugoslav leaders are angry—and worried.

So are the Poles. They have a little independence but are in no position to defend it successfully, and they know what happened to Hungary. What freedom of action they retain is at Moscow's sufferance. They know that every Russian attack on Yugoslavia portends trouble for Poland. Yugoslavia could put up a fight, and Khrushchev, to avoid scandalizing the whole communist world, is expected to refrain from making it another Hungary.

But the Poles fear, and with reason, that what Moscow denounces in Yugoslavia she will not tolerate in Poland. They, too, are having it brought home to them that in the long run no nation associated with Moscow can be neutral or even free.

Anesthetist Worth His Charge

By Herman N. Bundesen, M. D.

What, another bill? I can picture many of you saying these very words as you open your mail a few days after you have returned home from the hospital and operation.

Oh, you gripe a little about the hospital bill and the surgeon's fees, but you realize that you got good service for your money. And hospital and medical bills, as I have already pointed out several times, have not gone up as fast, or as high as have prices on most other services and goods.

But then you open a letter from the anesthetist who served you during your operation. And that seems like the proverbial straw which broke the camel's back.

Why, you might wonder, should you be charged by an anesthetist, a person you probably never even saw? Although the fee generally is a modest one, you might still wonder about it. So let's see what you got for your money.

In the past quarter century, a valuable new specialized field has developed in medicine—anesthesia.

The anesthetist who attends you during surgery is a qualified doctor or nurse. If he is a doctor, he has spent four years in medical school, taken his internship and then has followed this with two more years of training in anesthesia.

Nurses also take specialized training to become competent anesthetists, and are invaluable.

The anesthetist takes considerable burden from the surgeon and permits him to devote his full attention to the actual surgery. With a thoroughly trained anesthetist at hand, the surgeon doesn't have to concentrate on checking the pulse and blood pressure, watching the patient's color and breathing and numerous other details which the anesthetist now handles.

The anesthetist has been appraised of your condition and your medical history long before you enter the operating room. And he is prepared for any eventuality.

So, you see, you get a lot of service and protection for those few

Clean Desk -- Frightened Mind

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Along about this time of year a number of mysterious signs start appearing on my desk.

They say such things as: "Order is heaven's first law." "Order is a lovely thing." "This is an office—not the city dump."

"Clean up or move out." And I sigh. For I realize the forces of cleanliness and righteousness have launched their annual "let's spruce up the place and look neat" campaign.

One must, for some reason or another, cooperate—or else run the risk of having a battle star ripped from one's good conduct ribbon.

So, dutifully, I get a shovel and spade into the lovely mountain of rubble on my desk and load it into big cardboard boxes. When my desk is spotlessly bare, I get a crisp "Well done" from one of the top sergeants in the office reform wave brigade. But it isn't a very satisfying reward. I feel miserable until the passage of time builds a new pile of debris on my desk.

What puzzles me is why we indoor peasants who love a cluttered desk meekly bow to the iron will of these paper clip Hitlers who sternly decree, "A desk should be as clean as your conscience at all times."

Personally, I have always held that it's the man with a cluttered desk who has the clearest conscience, because the mess on his desk proves he has nothing to hide. It's the guy who keeps his desk bare as a billiard table who's the prey of inner guilt. Obviously he must be hiding some terrible secret he doesn't want the rest of the office world to know.

The blunt psychological truth is this: A clean desk is the sign of a frightened mind.

In a free world a man should have the right to keep his desk in any condition he wants to, subject only to the public safety and the local fire laws. The annoying thing is that these clean desk fiends insist that your desk be as nude and anonymous and lacking in personality as theirs. That way lies tyranny, the death of identity, and the spreading blight of ignoble conformity.

To me the top of a desk isn't merely a work site. It is a tower of magic, a storing place for wonderful memories, a warehouse of enchantment and the souvenirs of living. All that piles thereon isn't debris, but duty layers of excitement and wonder.

But enough of this day-dreaming. It's time to get a shovel and step ladder and go to work. The order is out: "All desks clean by nightfall."

AKRON (AP)—Of five men who escaped Summit County Jail here April 16 only one was free today following the surrender of Richard L. Hoskinson, 27.

Hoskinson went to police Saturday after an uncle, Ralph Hoskinson, 54, talked him into surrendering. The fugitive had gone to visit his uncle in Detroit.

Two of the jailbreakers had been caught previously. Hoskinson and Frank Spreng, 28, who is still at large, were with one of the fugitives caught in Norfolk, Va. Hoskinson and Spreng escaped.

The fifth, Virgil Akers, 21, was shot and killed by police.

Railroads Pose Problems

By George Sokolsky

The President's proposal to aid the railroads by a $700,000,000 loan, with certain other alleviations of their difficulties, is, of course, a makeshift, emergency solution to a pressing problem.

The railroads have been kept in such a non-competitive bondage by the Interstate Commerce Commission that they are today, so far as passenger services are concerned, outpriced in competition with airplanes, buses, private automobiles, etc. Because wages and prices on the railroads are absolutely controlled, as are all the terms of employment and the methods of operations, no railroad in the United States has been able to operate on a business basis, certainly since World War I when the government took over the railroads.

In a word, the railroads have not been free to meet progress and they show it. True, they have substituted the diesel for the locomotive, but that has not solved any great fundamental problem.

The air services usually enjoy terminal facilities which are paid for out of public funds. On the other hand, the railroads have to maintain all their facilities at their own expense. It is true that many railroads received enormous concessions when they were started, but that was long ago and does not affect the present situation at all.

A railroad has to maintain a costly right-of-way, a more costly road-bed. The air-lines fly in the free heavens and the protective services (beams, etc.) are maintained by the government of the United States out of taxes. Buses and trucks use public roads, paid for by the taxpayer and maintained and kept in repair by the taxpayer. These advantages have grown up as new means of transportation developed and no important steps have been taken to permit the railroads to keep themselves in a competitive position.

In fact, the Interstate Commerce Commission, which was established to keep the railroads competitive, has actually served to make them non-competitive and bureaucratic. A new idea usually finds desert soil in this enterprise because so many authorities have to be consulted and it takes them so long to reach a decision.

The railroads are still valuable in war-time; they are absolutely essential for the mass movements of men and materials and could not be abandoned on the assumption that the alternate means of communications will serve. Air-lines and buses must, in any emergency, remain auxiliary services. In war, only the railroad can serve to move the heavy equipment required by the new-type unconventional weapons.

Therefore what is most needed is an over-all study of the entire transportation system of the nation by some capable body such as Herbert Hoover developed in his various task forces. The object would be to analyze the position as it is today; to equate values; to produce more equity among the different means of transportation; to make public inequities in taxation and offer some solution concerning them; to disclose hidden as well as public subsidies for all transportation services; and, on the whole, to make sure that our means of moving human beings and goods are not antiquated and obsolescent and bound by red-tape and senility.

On a recent train trip from New York to Miami Beach and back, our train consisted of cars of varying vintages, so that passengers, paying the same fare, enjoyed unequal facilities. This is absurd in any business. I rode in a Rock Island Pullman which the Florida East Coast Railway had not bothered to paint over to look like its own equipment.

Returning to New York, we came in more than two hours late, although the weather was excellent; there had been no accident on the road and no reason, other than very bad railroad practices and poor servicing of the diesels between trips. Also, so many trains are taken off or combined with other trains, that the diesels pull too heavy a load.

If the railroads wish to give up First Class travel, they should make an announcement to that effect. Otherwise they are accepting additional fare without providing customary additional services. When the important, crack-trains are brought low, we shall know that the railroads really prefer to abandon passenger service altogether, yet passenger service is an essential railroad task.

All this needs to be studied, impartially, with a view toward restoring the primary means of transportation of the country.

Railroads Pose Problems

By George Sokolsky

The President's proposal to aid the railroads by a $700,000,000 loan, with certain other alleviations of their difficulties, is, of course, a makeshift, emergency solution to a pressing problem.

The railroads have been kept in such a non-competitive bondage by the Interstate Commerce Commission that they are today, so far as passenger services are concerned, outpriced in competition with airplanes, buses, private automobiles, etc. Because wages and prices on the railroads are absolutely controlled, as are all the terms of employment and the methods of operations, no railroad in the United States has been able to operate on a business basis, certainly since World War I when the government took over the railroads.

In a word, the railroads have not been free to meet progress and they show it. True, they have substituted the diesel for the locomotive, but that has not solved any great fundamental problem.

The air - services usually enjoy terminal facilities which are paid for out of public funds. On the other hand, the railroads have to maintain all their facilities at their own expense. It is true that many railroads received enormous concessions when they were started, but that was long ago and does not affect the present situation at all.

A railroad has to maintain a costly right-of-way, a more costly road-bed. The air-lines fly in the free heavens and the protective services (beams, etc.) are maintained by the government of the United States out of taxes. Buses and trucks use public roads, paid for by the taxpayer and maintained and kept in repair by the taxpayer. These advantages have grown up as new means of transportation developed and no important steps have been taken to permit the railroads to keep themselves in a competitive position.

In fact, the Interstate Commerce Commission, which was established to keep the railroads competitive, has actually served to make them non-competitive and bureaucratic. A new idea usually finds desert soil in this enterprise because so many authorities have to be consulted and it takes them so long to reach a decision.

The railroads are still valuable in war-time; they are absolutely essential for the mass movements of men and materials and could not be abandoned on the assumption that the alternate means of communications will serve. Air-lines and buses must, in any emergency, remain in auxiliary services. In war, only the railroad can serve to move the heavy equipment required by the new-type unconventional weapons. Therefore what is most needed is an over-all study of the entire transportation system of the nation by some capable body such as Herbert Hoover developed in his various task forces. The object would be to analyze the position as it is today; to equate values; to produce more equity among the different means of transportation; to make public inequities in taxation and offer some solution concerning them; to disclose hidden as well as public subsidies for all transportation services; and, on the whole, to make sure that our means of moving human beings and goods are not antiquated and obsolescent and bound by red - tape and senility.

On a recent train trip from New York to Miami Beach and back, our train consisted of cars of varying vintages, so that passengers, paying the same fare, enjoyed unequal facilities. This is absurd in any business. I rode in a Rock Island Pullman which the Florida East Coast Railway had not bothered to paint over to look like its own equipment.

Returning to New York, we came in more than two hours late, although the weather was excellent; there had been no accident on the road and no reason, other than very bad railroad practices and poor servicing of the diesels between trips. Also, so many trains are taken off or combined with other trains, that the diesels pull too heavy a load.

If the railroads wish to give

Anesthetist Worth His Charge

By Herman N. Bundesen, M. D.

What, another bill? I can picture many of you saying these very words as you open your mail a few days after you have returned home from the hospital and operation.

Oh, you gripe a little about the hospital bill and the surgeon's fees, but you realize that you got good service for your money. And hospital and medical bills, as I have already pointed out several times, have not gone up as fast, or as high as have prices on most other services and goods.

But then you open a letter from the anesthetist who served you during your operation. And that seems like the proverbial straw which broke the camel's back.

Why, you might wonder, should you be charged by an anesthetist, a person you probably never even saw? Although the fee generally is a modest one, you might still wonder about it. So let's see what you got for your money.

In the past quarter century, a valuable new specialized field has developed in medicine—anesthesia.

The anesthetist who attends you during surgery is a qualified doctor or nurse. If he is a doctor, he has spent four years in medical school, taken his internship and then has followed this with two more years of training in anesthesia.

Nurses also take specialized training to become competent anesthetists, and are invaluable.

The anesthetist takes considerable burden from the surgeon and permits him to devote his full attention to the actual surgery. With a thoroughly trained anesthetist at hand, the surgeon doesn't have to concentrate on checking the pulse and blood pressure, watching the patient's color and breathing and numerous other details which the anesthetist now handles.

The anesthetist has been appraised of your condition and your medical history long before you enter the operating room. And he is prepared for any eventuality.

So, you see, you get a lot of service and protection for those few

Clean Desk -- Frightened Mind

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Along about this time of year a number of mysterious signs start appearing on my desk.

They say such things as: "Order is heaven's first law." "Order is a lovely thing." "This is an office—not the city dump."

"Clean up or move out." And I sigh. For I realize the forces of cleanliness and righteousness have launched their annual "let's spruce up the place and look neat" campaign.

One must, for some reason or another, cooperate—or else run the risk of having a battle star ripped from one's good conduct ribbon.

So, dutifully, I get a shovel and spade into the lovely mountain of rubble on my desk and load it into big cardboard boxes. When my desk is spotlessly bare, I get a crisp "Well done" from one of the top sergeants in the office reform wave brigade. But it isn't a very satisfying reward. I feel miserable until the dollars which might be added to your regular medical bill.

Think it over; you'll realize it's certainly worth it.

Question and Answer

B. J.: My child has been getting frequent colds. Is there any way she can be immunized against them?

Answer: There is no known successful vaccine for colds.

passage of time builds a new pile of debris on my desk.

What puzzles me is why we indoor peasants who love a cluttered desk meekly bow to the iron will of these paper clip Hitters who sternly decree, "A desk should be as clean as your conscience at all times."

Personally, I have always held that it's the man with a cluttered desk who has the clearest conscience, because the mess on his desk proves he has nothing to hide. It's the guy who keeps his desk bare as a billiard table who's the prey of inner guilt. Obviously he must be hiding some terrible secret he doesn't want the rest of the office world to know.

The blunt psychological truth is this: A clean desk is the sign of a frightened mind.

In a free world a man should have the right to keep his desk in any condition he wants to, subject only to the public safety and the local fire laws. The annoying thing is that these clean desk fiends insist that your desk be as nude and anonymous and lacking in personality as theirs. That way lies tyranny, the death of identity, and the spreading blight of ignoble conformity.

To me the top of a desk isn't merely a work site. It is a tower of magic, a storing place for wonderful memories, a warehouse of enchantment and the souvenirs of living. All that piles thereon isn't debris, but duty layers of excitement and wonder.

But enough of this day-dreaming. It's time to get a shovel and step ladder and go to work. The order is out: "All desks clean by nightfall."

AKRON (AP)—Of five men who escaped Summit County Jail here April 16 only one was free today following the surrender of Richard L. Hoskinson, 27.

Hoskinson went to police Saturday after an uncle, Ralph Hoskinson, 54, talked him into surrendering. The fugitive had gone to visit his uncle in Detroit.

Two of the jailbreakers had been caught previously. Hoskinson and Frank Spreng, 28, who is still at large, were with one of the fugitives caught in Norfolk, Va. Hoskinson and Spreng escaped.

The fifth, Virgil Akers, 21, was shot and killed by police.

2 More Unknown GI Dead To Be Buried in Arlington

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two unknown fighting men who died in this nation's two latest wars will join the nameless one of World War I in crypts beside his Arlington tomb on May 30.

The Defense Department made public Friday night details of the manner of choosing the dead, the men who will choose them and plans for the national ceremony to mark entombment of the unknown soldiers of World War II and the Korean War.

America's highest officials will honor the men to be buried near that lonely, Unknown Soldier who has slept in his white tomb for more than 36 years.

Choosing the new nameless dead will start in Europe and the Pacific, then move to the Atlantic—the theaters of conflict.

First will be a choosing in France, on May 12. At the Epinal American Cemetery and Memorial, Maj. Gen. Edward J. O'Neill of the Army will choose from one of 13 caskets brought from military burial places in Europe and North Africa.

Three days later, at the National Cemetery near Honolulu, Hawaii, M. Sgt. Ned Lyle of the Army will place his hand upon one of four caskets from the Korean War.

The next day, at the same cemetery in the green grassed crater of an old volcano, Col. Glenn T.

Eagleton of the Air Force will choose a casket from World War II engagements of the Pacific.

The time then will come when one of the two World War II unknowns must be chosen.

The two caskets, identical to make it impossible for the chooser ever to say from which theater of war the men came, will be brought to the Atlantic. The World War II dead of the Pacific and the body of the man from Korea's war will be flown to the Navy's base at Guantanamo, Cuba, and put aboard the missile cruiser Boston. From Naples, Italy, will come the casket of the man who died in the European-North African war, brought by the destroyer Blandy.

Off the Virginia capes—where men died in torpedoed ships—the three bodies will be transferred to the missile cruiser Canberra.

Aboard that ship will be William R. Charrette, hospitalman third class of the U.S. Navy. He will decide which of the two World War II dead should go to Arlington. The one who doesn't will be given a sailor's burial at sea.

The other two caskets will be transferred to the Blandy. The destroyer, with escort, will steam to the Naval Gun Factory at Washington, arriving May 27.

On the following morning, the unknowns will leave the ship, be brought ashore for a ceremonial at the Gun Factory attended by the secretaries of defense, the Army, Navy, Air Force and Treasury (under whose jurisdiction the Coast Guard comes).

For two days, until the burial day on May 30, the men will lie in state under the vaulting dome of the Capitol's rotunda. Cabinet members, justices of the Supreme Court, Congress members will attend their arrival at the Capitol.

Down from Capitol Hill on the afternoon of May 30 the two will travel, along the ceremonial route through the city, across the arched bridge over the Potomac, up the winding drives under the great trees of Arlington National Cemetery to the amphitheater.

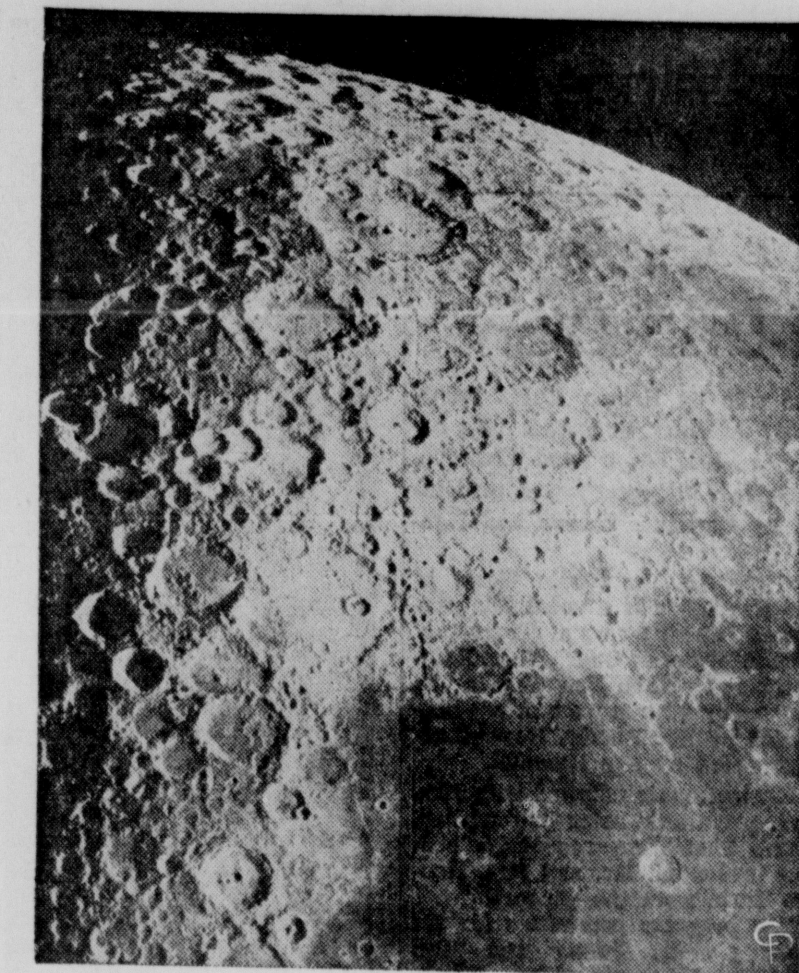

At the amphitheater, the chaplains of the several faiths will say their services for the dead.

And then for the two men will come the nation's highest military tribute.

Upon them will be bestowed, posthumously, Medals of Honor.

Hitting the moon with a Aerican super long-range space missile would win tremendous world prestige for any nation. Both American and Russian scientists say they have the rockets to do it.

However, the big question is: how could this great leap through space be proved—particularly to the man in the street?

Soviet scientists have suggested putting an H-bomb warhead on the missile, to blast a new and visible crater on the Moon's face. "Impossible," says Dr. H. H. Nininger, the founder of meteor science.

Dr. Nininger, director of the American Meteorite museum in Arizona, points out that meteors—the original "space bombs"—gouged the huge, famous craters now seen on the Moon.

We have two lovely daughters, loyal to us both; but Hank (my husband) has become so irritable that I can't stand the strain much longer. We were brought up in the church and attend regularly, and only my faith keeps me from insanity.

Hank is a good provider, but not an understanding father; and there is no need for him to carry on, like mad, as he does. Our older girl, 15, has been criticized and harassed by him, instead of getting due praise for achievements, until she has a devil-may-care attitude about everything—evident to teachers, friends and me.

The younger girl has more freedom and very little responsibility. She has had some terrifying experiences for one so young; and has changed so much she seems a different person. When her father is at work and I try to punish her for neglecting her duties, she tells him later that I mistreated her.

4,000 Yanks Expected To Visit Russia

NEW YORK (AP)—A New York tourist agent estimates about 4,000 American tourists will visit the U.S.S.R. this year—about 60 per cent more than in 1957.

Gabriel Reiner of Cosmos Travel Bureau, reports that the Soviet tourist monopoly, Intourist, is making considerable efforts to attract more American and other Western tourists.

It has been taking up to a month or six weeks to get a tourist visa. It will be possible shortly to process visas within seven day of application, Reiner says.

Intourist has opened up several new tourist routes this year. Among them are two automobile tour routes for persons driving into the U.S.S.R. in their own cars. One can drive from Moscow to Leningrad and out of the U.S.S.R. via Finland. Or a tourist can drive from Moscow to Romania via Kishinev. Previously the only touring permitted was from Warsaw to Moscow via Brest Litovsk and Minsk, or from Moscow to the Crimea and back.

Americans going to Russia this summer also may take cruises down the Volga River or on the Black Sea. The cruises on the Volga are new.

Armenia, previously closed to Americans, will be opened to organized tours. Many of those going are Americans of Armenian origin.

Intourist retains the same prices as previously. De luxe tours sell at $50 per day including transportation, hotels, food and cars.

The lowest rate is known as tourist class B and costs $10 per day. This rate applies only where the tourists are in groups of 15 or more.

Disabling eye injuries cost industry in the United States 20 million dollars annually, says the Better Vision Institute.

Intourist has opened up several new tourist routes this year. Among them are two automobile tour routes for persons driving into the U.S.S.R. in their own cars. One can drive from Moscow to Leningrad and out of the U.S.S.R. via Finland. Or a tourist can drive from Moscow to Romania via Kishinev. Previously the only touring permitted was from Warsaw to Moscow via Brest Litvsk and Minsk, or from Moscow to the Crimea and back.

Americans going to Russia this summer also may take cruises down the Volga River or on the Black Sea. The cruises on the Volga are new.

Armenia, previously closed to Americans, will be opened to organized tours. Many of those going are Americans of Armenian origin.

Intourist retains the same prices as previously. De luxe tours sell at $30 per day including transportation, hotels, food and cars.

The lowest rate is known as tourist class B and costs $10 per day. This rate applies only where the tourists are in groups of 15 or more.

Disabling eye injuries cost industry in the United States 20 million dollars annually, says the Better Vision Institute.

Gardens at Adena Topic Presented by Reed A. Masse

The April meeting of the Pickaway County Garden Club was held at the Lutheran Parish House. The meeting being the Club's Annual Dinner meeting, was enjoyed by members, husbands and guests.

Reed A. Masse, landscape architect in charge of the restoration of gardens at Adena, was the guest speaker for the evening.

Adena, now owned by the State of Ohio was built by Thomas Worthington, an early governor. The stone house was designed by Benjamin H. Latrobe, the architect responsible for the National Capitol.

Masse showed "before and after the restoration" slides. He told his audience of the immense amount of research done by members of the staff of the Ohio Historical Society in order to make the restoration authentic.

Much of the research was accomplished by reading family diaries, and browsing through wills, bills and receipts. "The most valuable single document" said Masse, "was an insurance survey of 1821." This survey indicated all sorts of details, whether the woodwork was painted or left natural; whether rooms were papered, painted or white-washed.

The survey also indicated the use to which each room was put.

Masse reminded his listeners that Worthington was a "transplanted gentleman of Virginia." He said that Adena reflected a certain gracious standard of living which a few Ohio pioneers enjoyed.

Masse said that they learned from an old manuscript that the gardens at Adena were centered with an arbor vitae tree, planted by Mrs. Worthington. It is said to have been her favorite because as an evergreen it exemplified the motto on her family crest, "In Winter We Flourish." The tree, still in existence, now forms a focal point in the garden. Masse said they knew the gardens were the colonial type, semi-formal gardens. In order to discover the paths which were covered over they dug diagonal channels across the garden area.

Knowing that Eleanor Worthington's favorite flower was the rose a garden was planted with over 40 varieties of roses known before 1830.

Masse reminded his audience that these roses have only one season of bloom—the middle and the last of May—and that they do not have the range or intensity of color found in the modern rose.

He spoke of the sweetness of their fragrance. "The entire area surrounding the house is permeated with their fragrance at blooming time," he said. The gardens are patterned, bordered with boxwood and contain all the shrubs, plants and bulbs that were known to be in use at that time.

Masse mentioned the peach-alley of European home. At present the trees are carefully trimmed and as they grow the branches will be grafted into each other and eventually the frame removed. Such allees were popular in early times to provide shade and serve as a breezeway according to the speaker.

Masse showed one slide of the cutting garden, planted for the convenience of the hostesses who arranged the flowers for the house and for the protection of the display gardens.

Masse said the Adena gardens were built on three levels—the rose and flower garden near the house, the kitchen and small fruits on the second level and a large grove of ornamental trees on the third, and flower beds laid off in geometrical patterns. The third level will not be restored due to difficulty of upkeep.

Mr. Hedges, of the Highway Department requested the club to donate two shrubs for the park on Highway 23. Mrs. Guy Campbell and the Civic Committee will be in charge of purchasing the shrubs.

It was suggested that the Club have a picnic and workshop combination at the roadside park in June. Mrs. Richard Jones will let us know more about it.

There will be a meeting at Mrs. Charles Thompson's house May 7 at 10 a. m. of all the committee chairmen of the Rose Show. The Rose show will be held at the Lutheran Parish House on May 28.

Mrs. Nat Lefko was voted in as a new member. The Regional Spring Meeting of the State Garden Club will be held May 1, in Canal Winchester, at Shades Restaurant. The speaker will be Mrs. Barton, National Flower Show Chairman.

A nominating committee was appointed to select officers for the coming year. Mrs. Robert Burton, chairman, Mrs. J. O. Eagelson, Mrs. Richard Jones, Mrs. Ione Reichelderfer will serve as the committee.

Mrs. John Mast won first prize for her arrangement.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Luther Bower, chairman, Mrs. Dudley Carpenter, Mrs.

Baby Business Hits Total Of $2 Billion Plus Yearly

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Today's babies are the best-fed, best-dressed, healthiest, happiest babies in history.

They're also the wealthiest.

That new king of big business, the American baby, spends more than $2 billion a year for products and services, and statisticians estimate that by 1965 the figure will be close to $3 billion. Baby may not go out and do the shopping in person, but this is the amount of money spent annually to keep him in the pink.

Today's baby is a lucky character. He has a better chance than ever before not only to survive the adventure of birth, but to come safely through childhood illnesses. In general he is stronger, taller and healthier than his parents or grandparents.

All this is due to the remarkable advances made in baby care in the last generation, and to the new sciences and services available to today's young mothers.

Grandma may feel that she knows all about raising babies, but she's not half so smart or competent as the modern rookie mother, on the record. Grandma may have had nursemaids and domestic to help with the chores of baby care, but today's mother has the benefits of the pooled knowledge of modern scientists, plus an array of conveniences that take the drudgery out of raising healthy children.

There are scores of industries today devoted exclusively to the well-being of our infant population. These industries employ a vast force of scientists, technicians, researchers, designers and medical consultants to make life easy and safe for baby — and for his mother.

Time was when the young mother spent hours just in the preparation of baby food—slow cooking, laborious sieving, mashing, scraping, squeezing and straining. Today she buys precooked, processed and pureed vegetables, fruits and meats prepared according to the most exacting standards, with all the vitamins and minerals intact.

A generation ago she washed baby's diapers at home, boiling, sudsing, rinsing and hanging out the baby wash daily. And no matter how careful she was, she couldn't get the clothes as scientifically clean as do the technicians of today's diaper service industry, which now serves more than a million babies a year.

A recent study made by this industry shows that the great increase in baby business is due not only to the booming post-war birth rate, but also to a new American way of life.

Today's young mother is likely to live in her own home, away from the helping hands of mother, grandma, sisters and aunts. She's on her own, unhampered by old wives' tales. And instead of enlisting the aid of loving relatives, she relies for help on modern scientific conveniences and services.

She has at her disposal not only all the ready-processed baby foods but also the latest discoveries in the fields of vitamins and medicine to keep her baby well-fed, happy and healthy. Her baby has every modern aid to comfort and well-being, from unbreakable plastic bottles to a vast array of powders, oils and lotions; from special non-allergic mattresses to new scientific toys; from hygienic diapers to soft, comfortable, easy-care garments turned out by famous fashion designers.

Today's young mother has no maid, but she has at her command the best brains of science, medicine and industry to help raise her baby. And the result is a new crop of model American babies, bursting with health, with more bounce to the ounce than any previous generation.

Dodgers Show New Faces in Los Angeles

Only 2 of Famous 1956 Crew Play In Sunday Contest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Disillusioned Los Angeles fans have been asking whether these are the same Dodgers who made Brooklyn famous and who can blame them?

Sunday's starting Dodger lineup against St. Louis showed only two incumbents from the one which faced the New York Yankees in the final game of the 1956 World Series—Gil Hodges at first base and Junior Gilliam at second.

Gone were third baseman Jackie Robinson, catcher Roy Campanella and left fielder Sandy Amoros and on the bench were shortstop Pee Wee Reese, right fielder Carl Furillo and center fielder Duke Snider. In their stead were Dick Gray at third, Ruben Walker behind the plate, Norm Larker in left field, Don Zimmer at shortstop, Elmer Valo in right and Gino Cimoli in center.

The revamped Dodgers didn't fare badly either. With Larker, Gray, Cimoli and Walker playing key roles, the Dodgers walloped St. Louis 10-3 to win their first series of the year, two games to one. Gary walloped a home run—his fourth of the year—and a single, driving in three runs. Cimoli and Walker knocked in two runs each and Larker one.

The San Francisco Giants had their four-game winning streak snapped by the Chicago Cubs, who came from behind to eke out a 5-4 triumph. In the National League's only other game, Philadelphia conquered Milwaukee 6-2.

Johnny Podres went all the way for Los Angeles, spacing 10 Cardinal hits for his third straight victory. Four double plays helped him immeasurably.

The Cubs not only snapped the Giants' streak, pulling up into a second-place tie with Milwaukee, a half game behind San Francisco, but executed the first triple play of the major league season. In the first inning with Willie Kirkland on second and Willie Mays on first, Hank Sauer lined to pitcher Dick Drott, who fired to Tony Taylor at second, getting Kirkland. Taylor relayed to Dale Long at first before Mays could get back, completing the triple play.

Despite Detroit's wretched spring showing, Manager Jack Tighe stoutly maintained his Tigers are at least 25 per cent improved over last year. Why?

"Among other things," he said, "we have a much better bench. Last year our bench was a joke. The guys used to hide when I'd be looking for a pinch hitter. This year they march up and down in front of me so I can see them."

No one could blame the bald-headed little guy if he gloated a bit after his Tigers' 9-5 victory over the Cleveland Indians Sunday.

Playing with four reserves in the starting lineup, the Tigers assaulted six Cleveland pitchers for 14 hits as they ended the Indians' four-game winning streak and climbed into a fourth-place tie with the Tribesmen.

The Los Angeles Dodgers walloped St. Louis 10-3.

The limping Tigers, having dropped two straight to Cleveland, took the field with reserves Milt Bolling at shortstop, Gail Harris at first base, Gus Zernial in left field and Tim Thompson behind the plate. Harris walloped three hits, including a double, and drove in a run. Bolling rapped two hits, and Zernial got two and drove in two runs. Thompson didn't hit but he handled Billy Hoelt well as the left-hander chalked up his second triumph without a defeat.

The Tigers broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth when pinch hitter Lou Skizas walked and raced to third on Harvey Kuenn's double. Singles by Zernial and Harris scored both.

Other games were rained out.

CHS Teams Ready for Loop Action

Circleville's baseball and track teams swing back into action today and tomorrow providing the weatherman is willing.

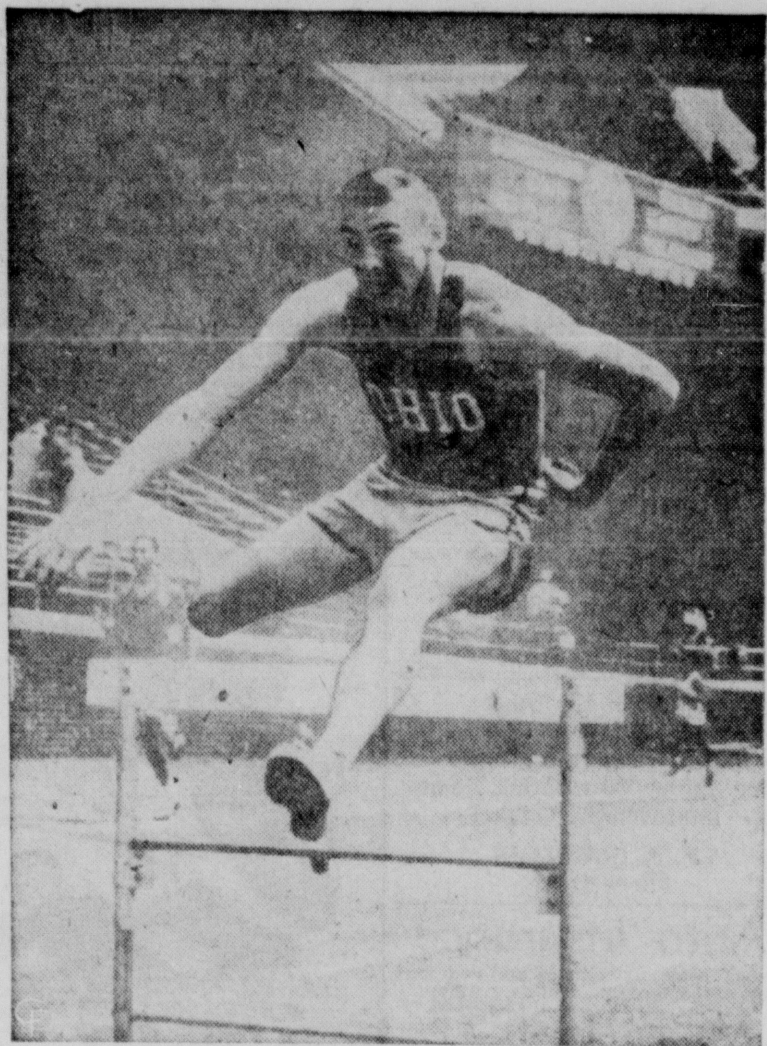

The baseballers are slated to entertain Hillsboro tomorrow at Ted Lewis Park and the cinder squad travels to Wilmington today for a league meet.

Circleville's diamond nine stands all alone in first place in the South Central Ohio League with four wins and no losses.

The Tigers moved into the top spot Friday when Washington C. H. downed previously undefeated league contender Greenfield, 1-0. Hillsboro has one league defeat, this coming at the hands of Greenfield.

THE harriers will attempt to get back on the win path after failing to get first place in their last two outings at Bexley and Grandview.

Coach Tom Bennett's thinclads have shown plenty of power in league competition and appear to be the team to beat.

Saturday's Kentucky Derby Is Clouded with Conjecture

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The Kentucky Derby will be run for the 18th time Saturday. That's for sure. But everything else about the $125,000-added turf classic for 3-year-olds is conjecture.

Even the weatherman clouded the picture today as trainer Jimmy Jones sought a jockey to replace injured Bill Hartack on favored Silky Sullivan's performance last Saturday and the largest field in eight years loomed for the 1¼-mile race.

Rain turned Churchill Downs' strip into mud and retarded training schedules. The weatherman saw no early clearing.

Jones has been deluged with offers to ride Tim Tam, hope of the Calumet Farm, since Hartack broke his leg in a fall from a horse here Saturday. Dave Erb, winner in 1956 with Needles, is expected to get the call.

Hartack retained a faint hope. "The only chance is one in a hundred," said the little Johnstown, Pa., native from his hospital bed.

"The X-rays have been sent to Dr. Alexander Kaye in New York and he will make a decision. Jimmy has told me he is going to leave it open for a few days."

Hartack, the nation's leading rider the last three years and winner last year astride Iron Liege, suffered a broken fibula, the small bone between the ankle and knee, when his mount reared in the starting gate and tossed him over backward.

As for Silky Sullivan, the big West Coast chestnut with the come-from-far-behind style.

Many raved about his performance in last Saturday's 7-furlong race in which he trailed by as many as 32 lengths and wound up fourth, beaten about 2½ lengths. Backers of Silky claimed the Derby distance will be right down his alley.

TED MOON

Moon Accepts Pro Job at Elyria Club

Ted Moon, golf pro at the Pickaway Country Club, has accepted an assistant pro job at the Elyria Country Club, Elyria.

Moon held the local pro job last year and so far this year. He plans to leave for Elyria tomorrow to complete final arrangements and find a place to live there.

The popular golfer will serve as an assistant to Clark Black, a veteran of about 10 years at Elyria.

Moon has been a golf enthusiast since his early school days here when he roamed the links as a caddy. Since that time he has developed into one of the most versatile golfers in this area.

A GRADUATE of Circleville High School, Moon also is a bowling fan, likes fishing and softball and officiates county basketball during the cage season.

Moon today said he was reluctant to leave the local country club, but added that it would be difficult to pass up the present opportunity. He thanked Pickaway Club officials and members for the fine support and cooperation received during his tenure here.

He also extended an invitation to local golfers to stop and see him whenever they are in the Elyria area.

Jay Hebert Wins Hometown Tourney

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—Jay Hebert will get a warm welcome from officials of the Lafayette Open golf tournament any time he wants to try his luck again in the $15,000 event.

Hebert, a Lafayette native and the hometown favorite of the gallery, made the first edition of the tournament a whopping success Sunday as he carded his fourth straight sub par round to win the $2,000 first prize money. Most of the 4,000 fans who followed the former Louisiana State ace in the hope that he would surge ahead, and he got better with each round.

Hebert trailed after each of the first three rounds, but fired a four-under-par 67 in Sunday's finals for a 72-hole total of 273, or 11 strokes under par.

Five states, other than his birthplace of New York, are preparing to celebrate the centennial birthday observance of Theodore Roosevelt. He was born at 28 East 20th Street, New York City, on October 27, 1858.

Tribe Set For 18-Game Road Trip

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, idle today for the first day since the season started, will begin an 18-game road trip Tuesday; they will meet the American League's four eastern clubs and two of the western teams.

Before returning here to open a four-game series with the Chicago White Sox on May 16, the Indians will play three games in Washington, two in Baltimore, three in Boston, three in New York, four in Chicago and three in Detroit.

The Indians ended a brief home stand Sunday by dropping a 9-5 decision to the Detroit Tigers in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader. The second game was postponed because of rain—the first postponement of the season for the Tribe.

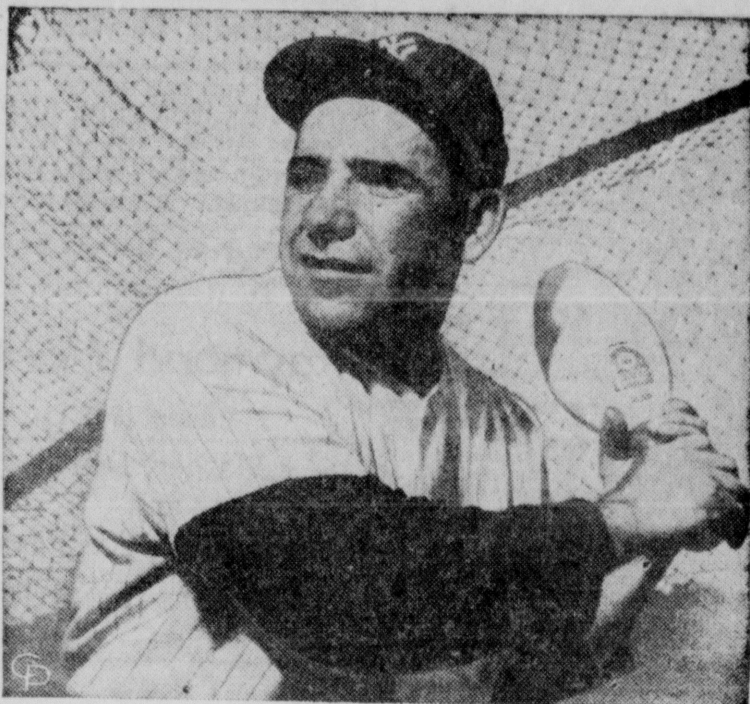

Umpire Ed Rommel's postponement of the nightcap brought an accusation from Tribe General Manager Frank Lane that the umpire did not give the fans a fair shake for their money.

Lane said the field was playable and that it was raining no harder when the game was postponed than it was during the last half of the first game. He added that he believed many of the 10,124 fans had come to watch Herb Score, the Tribe's ace southpaw who was scheduled to pitch the second game, and that they should have been given that opportunity.

Rommel did not deny that the field was playable, but said the weather report called for rain all night, and that was his reason for not starting the game. He said he waited an hour and it still was raining.

Purdue and Indiana led the Big Ten baseball race with 3-0 records today after the first weekend of championship play.

Purdue beat Northwestern's defending champions twice, 16-5 in 11 innings and 8-4, while Indiana measured Iowa, 6-3 and 6-5.

Michigan took both ends of a doubleheader from Michigan State, 10-1 and 2-1, to move into a third place tie with Ohio State. The Buckeyes defeated Minnesota 4-2 and dropped the nightcap, 5-4.

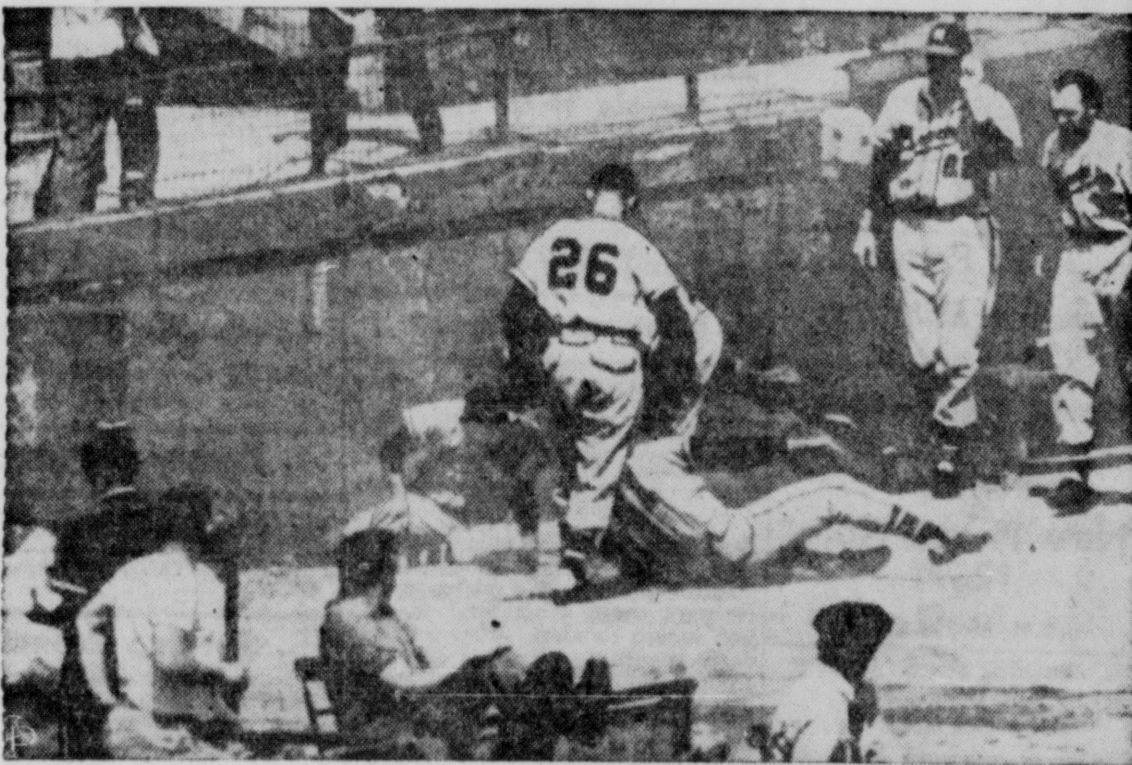

Illinois blanked Wisconsin 4-0 and then lost the second game in extra innings, 3-2.

New Derringer Stars on Mound

CINCINNATI (AP)—There's another baseball pitching Derringer on the way.

Eleven-year-old Tom Derringer pitched a no-hitter Saturday in a Cincinnati Knott-hole League game as his Kilgour Cub team walloped the Linwood Flyers, 26-0. He struck out 10 and didn't walk a batter in the five-inning game.

Tom is the son of Paul Derringer who helped pitch the Cincinnati Redlegs to National League pennants in 1939 and 1940. He had a major league record of 223-212 and had four seasons in which he won 20 or more games.

Dodgers Show New Faces in Los Angeles

Only 2 of Famous 1956 Crew Play In Sunday Contest

Disillusioned Los Angeles fans have been asking whether these are the same Dodgers who made Brooklyn famous and who can blame them?

Sunday's starting Dodger lineup against St. Louis showed only two incumbents from the one which faced the New York Yankees in the final game of the 1956 World Series—Gil Hodges at first base and Junior Gilliam at second.

ASHVILLE NEWS

Mrs. Art Deal, Jr.

Mrs. Clifton Mahaffey fell in her home Tuesday and suffered painful injuries to her right hand. It was necessary to have surgery performed in Columbus to wire the bones together in her hand. She is home but reported to be in considerable pain.

Mrs. Marion Glick underwent surgery Friday morning in Mercy Hospital. She has been under observation in the hospital since Thursday, April 17. Her room number is 107.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Rathburn entertained their son, Don, on his 18th birthday with a surprise party held in their home. Those attending were Senior classmates and friends of Don.

They were Bob and Bill Boyer, Fred Accord, Ronnie Bartholomew, Chester Fortner, Charles Moss, Bill Neal, Phil Reese, Boyd Ruh, Bob Featheringham, George Custer and brother Tom.

Mr. and Mrs. Rathburn and sons will spend Saturday visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Wiley and family at Ashland. Mrs. Wiley and Mrs. Rathburn graduated from Lodi High School together. They together will be attending the State Band Contest in which the Ashville band will be participating.

The hostess committee of the Pythian Sisters Lodge for April served dinner at 6:30 p.m. Thursday evening to about 35 members.

Following dinner a business meeting was held. Those serving on the committee were Mrs. Elwood Morrison, Mrs. Ben Morrison, Mrs. Rose Kaiserman, Mrs. Estella Kraft, Mrs. Chester Peters and Mrs. Clyde Brinker.

S. F. Hinkle is in a Columbus hospital after suffering a heart attack Monday. He is reported to be improved.

Mrs. Russell Costlow underwent surgery in White Cross Hospital Friday morning.

SACK'S APPEAL—Marilyn Monroe makes her appearance in a sack frock in New York for announcement she will return to the screen ("Some Like It Hot") after an absence of two years. (International)

New Headlineless Life Faces Lana if She Wins Custody

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — And now Lana Turner starts to put together the pieces of her life. That life was shattered on the nightmarish Good Friday night when her daughter, Cheryl, 14, stabbed to death Lana's lover, Johnny Stompanato, at the climax of a savage quarrel.

Last Thursday, a judge cleared Cheryl of murder charges, but placed her in the care of her grandmother for two months. Thus the judge avoided for a time the decision of who gets custody of the troubled child—her mother, her father, Steve Crane, her grandmother or the State of California. What will the answer be?

No one knows, not even the judge. In juvenile cases, the child is of prime importance. What is best for the child is generally decided. But the fact that Cheryl has been given to her maternal grandmother would indicate that Lana has a good chance of regaining custody of her daughter.

Mrs. Mildred Turner, a frail, frightened woman, herself a victim of tragedy—her own husband was murdered — is close to her daughter. Lana has long supported Mrs. Turner, and they have always lived together or nearby.

If, as it seems very possible, Lana should resume custody of Cheryl, what then?

As guardian of Cheryl, she would have to lead an exemplary life. That means avoiding the bright lights and headlines which have followed Lana since she was "The Sweater Girl" at 16. It won't be easy to do.

ABC Doubles Lead Changes

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Scoring took another upward surge in the 30th day of the 72-day American Bowling Congress. The recent Sunday was in the doubles.

Bill Tucker and Jim Vrenick of St. Louis worked out a 1414 between them to wrest the two-man lead from Joe Joseph and Bob Eckel of Detroit, who had assembled a 1369 last Friday. Tucker, 31, blasted a 237-239-235-731 series; Vrenick, 47, had 683.

The Tucker-Vrenick total was the third highest in 55 years of ABC history. John Klarens and Steve Nagy, both of whom were bowling out of Cleveland at the time, set the two-man record in 1952 when they pounded out 1453.

IL Umpire Is Slugged For Decision

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An irate baseball fan popped the umpire on the nose in the dressing room Sunday after a ruling that gave Toronto a sweep of an International League doubleheader over Miami.

The umpire who got "popped," as he termed it, was Augie Guglielmo. He had ruled that Archie Wilson's liner down the left field foul line in the seventh and last inning was a two-run homer. That gave Toronto a 7-5 victory on top of the Leafs' 8-2 triumph in the first game.

After the ruling the game was delayed 20 minutes as the crowd of 2,887 threw bottles on the field and Guglielmo banished Miami's manager, Kerby Farrell, and pitcher Windy McCall for too vigorous objections.

Many fans rushed onto the field after the umpires when the game ended. Police escorted the umpires to the dugout and made several arrests.

The "popping" incident occurred during the umps had reached their dressing room.

The rhubarb overshadowed Rochester's sweep of a twin bill from Columbus 3-2 and 4-2 to take over first place by half a game over Montreal.

The Havana Sugar Kings split a doubleheader, winning the first game 3-1 and dropping the night cap to the Montreal Royals 3-2. The Richmond Virginians took their two from the Buffalo Bisons 4-3 and 7-3.

May 9 Named As Youth Day

Mayor Ben Gordon today proclaimed May 9 to be Youth Day in Circleville.

The date coincides with the local Elks Lodge sponsorship of its annual All-County Prom to be held that evening in Pickaway County Fairgrounds Coliseum.

An estimated 700 junior and senior high school students in Circleville and county schools will receive invitations to the prom.

Mayor Gordon said that normally May 1 is designated as Youth Day, but the May 9 date was selected this year to coincide with the local Elks lodge youth dance.

Actually, some of Pickaway County's youngsters will observe Youth Day Thursday, May 1. On that date, the Elks Lodge here will sponsor the appearance of the Circleville High School Marching Band in the Elks Youth Program in Columbus.

THE LODGE has reserved two buses to transport the high school group to Ohio's capital city in the early afternoon. They will march in review before Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill and Columbus Mayor Maynard Sensenbrenner, the latter a Circleville native.

The two governmental dignitaries will address a special Elks Youth Day observance on the statehouse lawn following the parade.

Later the Circleville Band will be luncheon guests of the Ohio Elks Assn.

Actually, the Columbus appearance is only the first of two that the Elks lodge is sponsoring for the benefit of the local band. Next Sunday, the lodge will send the musical organization to the Chillicothe Veterans Administration Hospital for a parade. This is part of the annual Veterans' Day program in which the lodge plays a major role.

In proclaiming May 9 as Youth Day in Circleville, Mayor Gordon declared:

Whereas, the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks has designated a special day to honor America's junior citizens for their accomplishments and to give fitting recognition of their services to community, state and nation; and

Whereas, the Circleville Lodge of Elks No. 77 is sponsoring an observance in tribute to the junior citizens of this community; and

Whereas, there could be no event more deserving of our support and participation than one dedicated to the young people who in the years ahead will assume the responsibility of government and the advancement of our free society; and

Whereas, our youth need guidance, inspiration and encouragement which we alone can give in order to develop those qualities of character essential for future leadership; and

WHEREAS, TO achieve this worthy objective we should demonstrate our partnership with youth, our understanding of their hopes and aspirations and a sincere willingness to help prepare them in every way for the responsibilities and opportunities of leadership;

Now, therefore, I, Ben Gordon, Mayor of the City of Circleville, Ohio, do hereby proclaim May 9, 1958, as Youth Day and urge all departments of government, civic, fraternal and patriotic organizations, and our citizens generally, to participate wholeheartedly in its observance.

Pickaway County Heavy Loser To Cancer Deaths in 1957

A total of 35 Pickaway County residents lost their bout with cancer in 1957, according to a report issued by the Ohio Division of the American Cancer Society.

Thirty-six county residents died with cancer in 1956. According to Hal Dickenson, president of the Pickaway County Cancer Unit, these figures are based on a tally recently released by the Ohio Department of Health.

Last year 15,411 Ohioans died of cancer while in the previous year 14,168 cancer deaths were recorded. On the brighter side the report showed 7,480 Ohioans were cured of cancer last year.

At the same time the report noted that before 1958 comes to a close, 22,559 Ohio residents will be diagnosed as cancer patients for the first time and 37,400 of our citizens will be under medical care for cancer.

Officials of the Pickaway County Unit point out that half of those who suffer cancer each year could and should be saved through early detection and prompt and adequate treatment. Knowledge of cancer's early warning signals and periodic health checkups are the best cancer insurance, according to the American Cancer Society.

Pickaway Grange Report

Scioto Valley Grange met recently in the Grange Hall with Worthy Master H. A. Bumgarner presiding over the business session. Fifty-five guests and members were present for the evening.

Mt. Pleasant Grangers were welcomed as visitors for the evening. A response was voiced by their Worthy Master, Dorsey Bumgarner. Mt. Pleasant presented the evening's program under the traveling program plan used among the county granges.

One officer was reported absent at roll call. Miss Lulu Kuhlwein filled the chair for the evening.

Mrs. Leona Berger, home economics chairman, made her report to the Grange on the recent cafeteria supper. She expressed her appreciation to all who helped make it a success financially and to those who worked in the kitchen and dining room.

THE remembrance committee reported sending several get-well cards and a birth congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Forest Doersam. A contribution was voted to the Cancer Fund Drive.

Friday evening, Pomona Grange will meet with Washington Grange at the Washington Twp. school.

A fine and interesting program was conducted by Mt. Phyllis Atwood, Mrs. Evelyn Pearl, lecturer, introduced those taking part. The chorus included the following: Mrs. Jeanne Metzger, Mrs. Janice Metzger, Miss Phyllis Atwood, Mrs. Evelyn Pearl, Miss Dora Green and Mrs. Betty Lou Gahm. Mrs. Marvene Rihl was pianist and Mrs. Helen Counts was narrator.

The theme was "Ohio Composers". Trips to Ohio cities birthplaces of famous men, and a short history of their background was narrated and concluded by members singing or playing the best loved numbers he had composed.

The first stop was Milan, Ohio, birthplace of Thomas A. Edison. Edison was not a composer, he did invent the phonograph, a boon to many music lovers.

Next, to Cleveland where we learned of Josephine Forsthye Myers and her own special arrangement of "The Lord's Prayer" which Mrs. Jeanne Metzger sang. Youngstown, we learned, was the hometown of George Bennard, composer of "The Old Rugged Cross" sung by the chorus.

BACK TO Cleveland our travels took us to Irish composer Ernest Ball, whose many songs included an old time favorite "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling". This was done on the Saxophone by Gary Dean.

At Westerville we heard of Ben Hanley and his song "Darling Nellie Gray", sung by the chorus. Daniel Dicater Emmett called Mt. Vernon his home and among the best known of his compositions was "Dixie" also played by Gary Dean on the saxophone.

It was at a small place near Findlay that Tell Taylor was inspired to write "Down by the Old Mill Stream". Mrs. Jeanne Metzger and Mrs. Betty Lou Gahm sang this as a duet.

Taking its place among all time favorites was "Beautiful Ohio", although its composers, Mary Earl and Bernard McDonald, weren't Native Ohioans, they rank high among composers. This was played as a clarinet solo by Richard Green.

A fitting ending was when Circleville's own Ted Lewis was honored and his song "When My Baby Smiles at Me" was sung by Gary Dean, impersonating Ted.

Mrs. Walter Berger and her hospitality committee served refreshments.

Members are reminded that the youths will be in charge of the next meeting and program on May 13.

Firemen's Parley Ends Fittingly -- with Fire

WOODLAND, Calif. (AP)—The annual convention of the California Rural Firemen's Assn. ended on a fitting note Sunday — a fire broke out in convention headquarters at the Hotel Woodland.

A delegate called the fire department. Then the conventioners watched while Woodland firemen put out the blaze, which destroyed a fan in a kitchen vent.

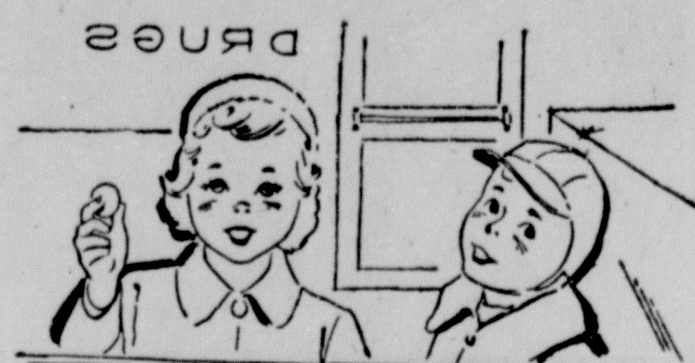

This will be his first year in the field with nature.
